

BIG WHEELS DEPT.

You've all seen this item at the left! It's the "Presidential Seal." It appears wherever the President of the United States appears, and it serves to remind us all that he represents the entire nation. Which got us to thinking: Why shouldn't other Presidents have "Seals" that would appear wherever they appear, and serve to remind us of what they represent? Like f'rinstance... here are some MAD suggestions for
