"THE MAD RAP"

You sent me a notice
saying re-subscribe;
And I said to myself
No more of this jive!
I've had it up to HERE
With Alfred and Gaines;
And the rest of you jerks
who have stupid names!
I can't believe I'm paying
For another three years...
Of stuff so bad
I'm brought to tears!

Lorraine Wright
Olympic Valley, CA

I read your MAD
It sure was BAD;
I grabbed a rag
To mop my PAD!
Cause my fries and my burger
And the things... I... munched;
Were barfed on the floor
WITH THE REST OF MY LUNCH!!!

Barry Schulze
Rialto, CA

Thanks for rapping. Though totally lacking rhythm, your letters give us the opportunity to mention that the "MAD Rap" was written by Frank Jacobs based on an idea by Billy Doherty, whose names do not rhyme. — Ed.

HOROSCOPE

I loved "MAD's Instant Guide to Zodiac Types" in #278. I just want to know: What is Harry North's sign and what is Frank Jacob's sign?

Alan Canterbury
Washington, DC

Both Harry and Frank were born on the cusp between the astrological signs of Bernie the Weasel and Gerald the Inaccurate Meteorologist. Their moons are none of your damn business. — Ed.

DEPT. OF CORRECTIONS.

After five years I have finally decided to write and inform you that in MAD #240 (July '83) you misspelled my name in a letter labeled "A 'Private' Remark." I am Nick Denicke of of Middletown, CA. Thank you.

Dick Denicke
Diddletown, CA

I hate to seem cranky, but you are making more mistakes than ever. In "The MAD Nasty File" (#278) you spell "judgment" with an extra "e." Then, in "Celebrity Reading Lists," the Ayatollah Khomeini is reading "Mecca on Five Drachmas a Day." Why is an Iranian touring Saudi Arabia with Greek money? And if that's not bad enough, both errors were made by the same guy, Tom Koch!

John Chambers
Kansas City, MO

We've been having trouble with Koch lately and your letter wasn't the first we've received. Yours proved to be the breaking point, however, and we had no alternative but to let him go. Thanks for writing! — Ed.

MAD'S LONGEST SUBSCRIBER

I've been subscribing to MAD now for 33 years. Is this a record?

Dr. Paul Schlueter
Easton, PA

No, Paul. What you've been receiving are magazines. This is a record:

— Ed.

I am a 32-year-old professional who has been an avid reader of MAD for over 25 years. I have not missed purchasing an issue since #136. Not only do I have this consecutive issue streak going but each issue is in printer's condition with fewer creases than a baby's bottom. I wonder if there are any with as many straight issues as I have (or if any one really cares)!

Wayne D. Toombs
Upper Marlboro, MD

Comparing issues of MAD to a baby's bottom? We have forwarded your letter to the proper authorities and suggest you get some long-term psychological counseling. Thanks for writing! — Ed.

THE TOOTH, THE WHOLE TOOTH AND NOTHING BUT THE TOOTH

And now the moment you've all been waiting for! In the Letters and Tomatoes Dept. of MAD #278, Eric Huber of Valley Stream, NY asked us why Alfred E. Neuman's tooth was never repaired. We responded by saying that it had been repaired and offered free one-year subscriptions to the first six people who could tell us the regular issue number and situation in which it happened! The correct answer is MAD #236 (Jan. '83) when E.T. (or Q.T.) did the impossible! The six winners are: Tom Lewis, Lafayette, PA; Patrick Twist, Huntington, NY; Tony Lynch, Crestwood, IL; Dave Wanaski, Schaumburg, IL; Mark Toscano, South Windsor, CT and Ronna Boujo, Brooklyn, NY! (By the way, the most frequent incorrect answer was MAD #263!) As a bonus, here are the names of the first 300 runners-up. Wow! Big Deal!

RUNNING OUT OF TOM

I see that your Production guy, Tom Nozkowski, is mentioned in "Quick Recoveries for Embarrassing Situations" in issue 278. But your official disclaimer always states "The names of characters used in all MAD fiction and semi-fiction are fictitious." Apparently, you broke your own rule, or Tom Nozkowski isn't real!

Andy Gorzalski
Milwaukee, WI

Whether or not Tom Nozkowski is real is a hotly debated question rivaled only by "Which came first, the puppy or the egg?" We believe this question is best left to scientists and theologians.—Ed.

PARDON OUR PARDON

I was infuriated when I read your vicious article "The Official MAD Pardon of Ronald Reagan." I am very disappointed in you for printing such trashy propaganda and resent your spiteful treatment of President Ronald Reagan. As a personal friend of Ronnie, I can vouch for his superior leadership skills, judgement, patriotism and sound moral character.

MORON MAIL

I hereby challenge you fools to print a letter from a small, worthless town in North Dakota.

Steve Gaub
Bowman, ND

We're familiar with the town of Bowman, ND and think it's a lovely town! Obviously your letter has a typo, and what you really want us to print is a letter from a small worthless clown in North Dakota, which we just did! —Ed.

A Mad Peek Behind A HIGH SCHOOL PROM

I want you back here at precisely 10 p.m. to take us to the Chez Paris Café, and then the Nightlife Dance Club at midnight!

Yes, sir!

Bill's chauffeur is pretty good at taking orders!

He's had lots of experience! That's Bill's father!

Boy, I feel kind of nervous, but Ed looks so at ease and comfortable.

He should! This is his third prom! He's been left back the last two years!

Hey, I snuck in a whole six-pack of beer!

Great! How'd you do that?

I drank it outside!

Say, didn't I already take your picture 15 minutes ago?

Yes, but Frank and I just broke up! Now I'm going steady with Bill!

What a night! My gown is uncomfortable, the food stinks, my date is a wimp and the music sucks!

Why didn't you just stay home?

And miss my prom? Are you kidding? This is the happiest night of my life!

Wow, I am so drunk!

Me, too! I'm totally wasted!

Don't they know the strongest ingredient in that punch is grapefruit juice?

No! When they asked, I told them it was spiked with Vodka!

Three Morons and a Baby

ARTIST: ANGELO TORRES

A baby!
What are we supposed to do with a baby?

About fifteen minutes worth of adorable ca-ca and wee-wee jokes,
obviously!

Fifteen minutes? Hey,
I'm in show business!
I know about these things! High class
schtick like ca-ca and wee-wee are good for
at least 45 minutes!

Great! Not only was
I born out of wedlock
and abandoned by my mother, now I have to live with these three schmucks! What a way to start life!!

Babies
are such magical
creatures!

They certainly are!
They can change
three seemingly normal men into slobbering idiots!

Who's
that strange-looking guy?

That's Leonard Nimoy! He directed this movie!

Is
he any good?

They say
he has an eye for comedy!

Well, he certainly has the ears
for it!

Isn't Selleck

That's for sure! In fact, I can't figure out if we're here to

BUSH

I
NEED TO BE
PAMPERED

Listen, fella, I need some baby food!

Well, for infants up to six months, you have the strained variety! If the child is older, you have the chopped foods! And for desserts...

This is a totally new experience for me!

You mean being a new father?

No, I mean meeting a supermarket clerk in New York City who is courteous and helpful and knows where every product in the store can be found!

The lady said that before the baby gets her milk, the nipple must be sterilized in boiling water!

No wonder so few women breast feed today!

Hooboy! As soon as I learn to crawl, I'm outta here!!

Oh God! You see what she did to her diaper?

Yeah—the same thing we did to the charming original French film about three men and a baby!

I've been in films for only 5 minutes and already I'm doing a nude scene! That's some lousy agent I've got!

Not again! That's the third time her diaper fell off!

How about if I nailed it to her?

You know, we're doing something that's never been done before—we're making a movie that's even dumber and harder to believe than a TV sitcom!

By the way, did anyone deliver a small package to be picked up here?

Yeah! What's in it?

The plot for this movie!

I'm with the drug squad! We're looking for a drug shipment sent here by a friend of Jerk, your other roommate!

Which friend? The one who directs TV commercials!

Jerk should plead guilty to the drug charge—it's the lesser of the two offenses!

I've come for that teensy-weensy little charmer everyone adores!

Sorry, lady, Danny DeVito's not here!

Jerk, is she the baby's mother?

I don't remember! I don't think I said more than a few words to her!

That's right! But do you remember what those words were? "Sorry, I assumed you were on the pill!"

I've decided to take her back home to London!

Hey, Jerk, you can stop her legally! You're the father! She abandoned the baby! She has no visible means of support and she's taking your child out of the country without your consent!

There's one thing wrong with that argument—it's logical! And once people start being logical, they begin to ask questions like, how'd my mom raise the cash to get here and why didn't she spend it on taking care of me?

I couldn't leave and don't ask me why because I have absolutely no believable reason for doing this!

No problem! You and the baby can live here with the three of us!

That's just great! You're such nice guys!

Not really! If we were such nice guys we'd insist that Jerk do the right thing and marry you!

If my mother is happy to live here while my father has other women in his room, then what chance do I have of growing up to be a normal person? Goodnight, I've had it!

You know, the baby seems really quiet tonight...

She gets comatose watching TV! Especially what's coming up next...

...and now our special in-depth feature... "The Media Looks At The Media Looking At The Media!"

You look troubled, Tomfool! What's wrong?

I'm not good at what I'm successful at!

Gee, that doesn't bother President Reagan...

So what? They're my mother and father!

A big story just broke! Tomfool will have to handle it alone!

He's too stupid to do it, Pain!

See, Airdale, I told you Tomfool could do it!

That's true! But how'd you know?

I saw his resume! He once worked as a ventriloquist's dummy!

Tomfool, you're too stupid to be an anchorman! I'll bet you don't even know the names of the Cabinet members!

Oh yeah? Well, I know something more important! Can you name all of Snow White's dwarfs?

Sure! I know everything! Sneezzy, Happy, Sleepy, Dopey, Grumpy, Doc, and Bashful!

Hah! I knew you couldn't do it! You left out Harpo!

Ever notice that in movies like this, the Jewish guy always seems to be the brightest one?

Sure! They gotta do something to compensate for the fact that the WASP guy always gets the girl!

Even though you're a conceited jackass, Tomfool, I feel drawn to you!

That's about par for the course!

You're enormously attractive and irresistible! Haven't you ever felt that way about someone?

Of course! I feel exactly the same way every time I look in a mirror!

If you doubt it, just ask yourself, "Why does this station in Ames, Iowa, which has no reporter in Calcutta, India, and has never carried a story about Calcutta, India, need to keep its staff aware of the exact time now in Calcutta, India?"

ANALYSIS OF EVENTS BY LOCAL EXPERTS

A high school economics teacher may understand the National Debt almost enough to analyze it on TV, but be skeptical of lesser experts, like the local garage mechanic who's called in to explain what went wrong with today's space launch, or the real estate salesman who makes economic predictions, or the station manager's wife who was last week's expert on El Salvador and this week's authority on food preservatives.

REMOTES FROM REPORTERS IN THE FIELD

Why does the TV Newsmen who's telling you about an increase in phone rates need to be seen standing in front of the Telephone Building? Obviously, he doesn't want you to suspect that he's read the story in the morning paper, just like you. So beware of this form of "on-the-spot reporting" that comes from a spot that isn't exactly "on the spot" where the spot news occurred.

INTERVIEWS OF "THE MAN IN THE STREET"

Take just a moment to consider how ridiculous it is for local TV to seek out the opinion of "the man in the street" about some late news development. People chosen at random obviously don't know any more about an event than you do, so why waste time airing their views? Because it's an easy story that can be done right in front of the studio while the station's only mobile unit is out of action getting a lube job! That's why!

uses a whole bagful of gimmicks, props, double-talk and outright tricks to create the illusion that its news people know what they're doing! As part of MAD's ongoing campaign to protect the public from its own gullibility, let's take a hard look at:

E IN LOCAL TV NEWS

WRITER: TOM KOCH

EXTENDED COVERAGE OF LURID STORIES

If the day's total news from Europe can be reported in two sentences, ask yourself why it takes a four-part "investigative series" to cover the town's only porno store. Such lengthy "studies" are even more suspect when they come at the same time that the other local station is doing an in-depth report on "Shower Facilities at the Women's Prison."

FLAUNTED USE OF MYSTERIOUS EARPIECES

Anchor men at even tiny TV stations are now copying network news stars by wearing poorly concealed earphones attached to long cords. This is to make you think that they're very important people who use the gadgets to remain in constant communication with directors and other flunkies! In truth, anchor men who wear earpieces are just bored with their show and are listening to something better on transistor radios.

NEEDLESS USE OF NEWS HELICOPTERS

Notice how the station, which recently bought a "News Helicopter" amid much ballyhoo, now uses the chopper to make stories that don't really require helicopter coverage appear more sensational. Example: Overhead shot of a factory parking lot to illustrate how striking employees who didn't report to work today also didn't drive their cars to work.

DRAMATIC USE OF NEWSROOM ATMOSPHERE

Televising direct from the newsroom is a common bit of hokum employed by local stations to make you believe you're getting the latest hot-off-the-wire news. To puncture this myth, just watch the newswriters visible in the background, and note that they aren't writing news. Instead, they're talking, or eating, or tossing darts, or doing any of the other things that newswriters do on the job when they think no one's watching them.

What would happen if they dropped The Bomb? (No, not the next issue of MAD! Idiot! We mean the nu-clear bomb!) Our government assures us that life would go on—just as soon as the Feds reinstated mail delivery and taxes! Right! Like we'd really be looking forward to squatting in our shelters, eating Spam and waiting to hear from the IRS!!! It takes years for radiation to leave the environment—that's a lot of Spam! So we'd need something to help pass the time...like some magazines! And we can guess what they'd be like! (After all, who knows more about the trashy future of publishing than us?!) "HIGHLIGHTS"
OF THIS NEW,
MUCH-NEEDED
INSURANCE
POLICY ...

Section 1.

PHONE BEEPER LOUSY TIMING Insurance

The insured will be paid for all damages incurred, both physical and mental, as a result of his telephone beeper suddenly sounding loud and clear under any of the following conditions:

- (1) The insured is about to score with a great-looking chick.
- (2) The insured is watching an important event like Monday Night Football, and it's right in the middle of a crucial situation.
- (3) The insured is in a bank during a holdup, and the perpetrator announces, "Anybody makes a sound and I blow your (expletive deleted) head off!" ...or words to that effect.

Section 2.

OVERSIZED PORTABLE RADIO DAMAGE Insurance*

*Damage to insured, that is ...not to portable radio!

The insured is covered if any of the following conditions develop while using an oversize portable radio, also known as a "Boom Box" or a "Ghetto Blaster."

- (1) Hernia (self-explanatory).
- (2) Ghetto Blaster Shoulder (One shoulder permanently lowered from carrying Boom Box).
- (3) Impaired hearing or permanent brain damage from over-exposure to extremely loud music.
- (4) Bodily harm inflicted by mean dude when insured tries to prevent him from stealing his Box.

Section 3.

INADEQUATE TOY ASSEMBLY INSTRUCTION Insurance

The insured is protected against (1) ridiculous and/or senseless instructions*, and (2) any missing parts necessary for the successful assembling of a simple put-together toy or piece of equipment.

*Instructions read: "Attach Flange A to Bushing B"...and there is no Flange A or Bushing B... or instructions are printed in Spanish, Korean, Hebrew, Latvian and Polish, but not English... or instructions are in English, but are for the wrong toy or piece of equipment.

Not the insured's parts...the toy's!

Section 4.

SODA DISPENSING MACHINE FOUL-UP Insurance

The insured will be reimbursed for money lost when a soda machine malfunctions and any of the following occur:

- (1) Machine dispenses soda...but no cup.
- (2) Machine dispenses cup...but no soda.
- (3) Machine dispenses soda and cup...but cup is up-side down.
- (4) Machine doesn't dispense anything, including your coins.
- (5) You push button for Grape Soda...and get V-8.

PARCHED THROAT RIDER: The insured will be paid double-indemnity if machine fouls-up immediately after he has eaten any amount of salty buttered popcorn.

Section 5.

BADLY-TIMED POCKET CALCULATOR FAILURE Insurance

This coverage has been created because no student is capable of solving math problems in his head any more. Therefore, if insured's calculator fails to function during a critical exam due to a manufacturer's defect or a burned-out battery, claimant will receive a new set of batteries, a sympathetic letter to his teacher and/or his parents, an abacus as a temporary replacement, and any tuition loss which may result from this failure.⁽¹⁾

(1) If failure is due to defective or burned-out student, this coverage is hereby voided.

Section 6.

NON-STARTING SNOW BLOWER, LAWN MOWER, BOAT MOTOR, CHAIN SAW, ETC. Insurance

If, after pulling starting cord for more than forty-five minutes, the insured is unable to start his snow blower or lawn mower or boat motor or chain saw, and is suffering acute embarrassment caused by laughing neighbors or other onlookers, he will be entitled to compensation in the amount necessary to cover the cost of hiring a couple of teenagers to shovel his sidewalk or mow his lawn or row him back to shore or cut his cordwood.⁽¹⁾

(1) This section does not cover non-starting American-made automobile engines.

Section 7.

CREDIT CARD OR COMPUTER BREAKDOWN DELAY Insurance

The insured is covered for damage to his health and well-being caused by frustration and/or anger at being stuck in a line behind some wimp who insists upon paying for a 3.00 purchase with a credit card, or being stuck in a line at his bank when the computer breaks down. In addition to medical costs, the company will pay his fine if his parking meter expires, and will give him a certificate for a "Big Mac" in case he is forced to waste his entire lunch hour on said line.

Section 8.

ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT 30-DAY OBSOLESCENCE Insurance

If, within 30 days after the insured purchases the latest model VCR Tape Recorder or FM Tuner-Amplifier or 35mm SLR Camera or "Walkman"-type Portable Radio/Tape Player, a new and vastly improved cheaper model is introduced, a direct cash refund payment will be made to the insured. In addition, if any friends or relatives of the insured purchases the new and improved cheaper model, and then makes derisive and insulting remarks such as, "I told you to wait, Schmuck! Now you got a piece of crap...!", the insured will be covered for all legal and medical expenses incurred when he punches out the creep.

SCHWARZENEGGER

WITH A TIP OF THE HAT TO HANK "HIAWATHA" LONGFELLOW

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

WRITER: FRANK JACOBS

By the shores of the Pacific,
In the town of glitz and hustle,
Strode the mighty Schwarzenegger,
Baring chest and flexing muscle;
Biceps twitched in perfect rhythm
Through his skill with isometrics, —
Feats that Letterman, on seeing,
Sought to use as Stupid Pet tricks.

But the bulging Schwarzenegger
Set his sights on goals much higher,
As the lure of movie stardom
Pumped him up with great desire;
Soon he found himself in epics,
Slaying enemies like vermin,
Tearing dialogue to pieces
With his accent, sorta German.

Clenching jaw, he raged as "Conan,"
Who, upset by double-dealing,
Slaughters half the population
To express his depth of feeling;
Next "The Terminator" starred him
As a droid bent on aggression,
Killing victims for two hours
Without changing his expression.

As a soldier in "Commando,"
On whole armies he was feasting,
Shrugging off a hail of bullets
Like a flea-bite or a bee-sting;
Not Stallone in Panavision
Matched the fury of his scowling
When in "Predator" he thrilled us
In the art of disemboweling.

In his latest quest for glory
As "The Running Man" he bears up,
Bringing down the rule of evil
While assorted foes he tears up;
See him punch out his oppressors,
Rip apart a villain's torso,
Bludgeon killers into meatloaf
Like Chuck Norris, only more so.

Yes, the massive Schwarzenegger,
Muscles rippling, tendons straining,
Now, through fame and sky-high grosses,
As a super-star is reigning;
Let the critics crucify him
When his lines he seems to louse up!
If it's brains that wins the Oscars,
It's the beef that fills the house up!

GRAND LARSON-Y DEPT.

Nowadays, the hottest comic strip in the country is Gary Larson's bizarre single-panel, "The Far Side." Far Side books are at the top of the bestseller lists and gift shops are filled with Far Side cards, mugs, posters and other stuff. With a big cash bonanza like this, it won't be long before other cartoonists jump on the bandwagon and start using Larson's approach as well. Speaking of jumping on the bandwagon, here's what we think it will be like...

THE CATHY SIDE

It was right after the soup and just before the main course that Cathy decided she would never, under any circumstances, ever go on another blind date again. Never.

THE SPIDERMAN SIDE

"It must have fallen down during the night and...Hey! Lookee what's underneath it!"

THE B.C. SIDE

"It's agreed then: you call it in the air...winners get to lounge around in trees all day eating bananas and losers have to develop civilization and live in hot, crowded cities."

THE FAMILY CIRCUS SIDE

"Well, I thought this was the spot where we left daddy...I remember we buried him in the sand about an hour ago right here next to a 'No Littering' sign."

THE HAGAR SIDE

"Hagar, there's someone here who wants to speak to you about your helmet, and he doesn't look happy."

WHERE THE WILD THING STARS DEPT.

Who is the guy who runs around New York City getting even with punks and hoods? The guy who never puts the make on his girlfriend and dresses sorta funny? No, he's not New York City Mayor Ed Koch (but a good guess!) and he's not The Equalizer, either! Here's a big hint: This...

Beauty IS THE BEAST

ARTIST: JACK DAVIS

WRITER: DICK DEBARTOLO

My name is Badscent. I'm 50% man, 50% animal and 100% unbelievable! I live in a filthy, rat-infested hole in New York City, but then again, so do about three million other New Yorkers!

I'm Catrun! When thugs attacked me, Badscent saved me! I'm wildly attracted to him! Why? Well, for one thing, he's a lot less of an animal than some of the other guys I've dated!

I'm Badscent's dad! In a normal family, a father has a son. Then, in time, he gets that son a pet. With Badscent, I scored on both counts at the same time!

We're Tunnel People! We live in these stinking, damp hellholes under the city! But soon that will change! These hellholes are going co-op! If only we had the money to buy in at the insider's price....!

You did it! You found a parking space in New York!

Yeah, good thing we have a compact car or we never would have made it through that open manhole!

Don't you see what he's doing? He's probably getting an incredible fee from this building for maintenance and he's paying you peanuts!

Please don't make trouble for me, lady! Next week I'll be finishing my fifth year working for him, and I don't want to jeopardize my five-hour paid vacation!

Your boyfriend has a heart of gold — but the face of Lassie! Have you known each other a long time?

About one year of my time, which is about seven years of his time!

There's the creep I was telling you about!

All those cartons have to go up to the ninth floor!

But they must weigh tons!

If I wanted someone to guess weights, I would have gone to the Boardwalk in Atlantic City! I hired you men to move furniture! Now move!

You can't treat an old man like that!

Why not? That's the way I treat old ladies!

I warned you! GROWWWLLL, HISSSS...

Uh-oh... either this guy's about to cough up the world's biggest hairball, or I'm in real trouble! I'd better get out of here!

ARRGHHH! I'll chase him!

That's okay, I got his license number!

It's no trouble! I like chasing cars! And balls and sticks and frisbees... Yeah, frisbees are my favorite!

Don't worry about it! I'm going back to the office to see if I can find out anything about that creep! When will I see you again?

When it's dark and shadowy! Unless you want to meet in Greenwich Village. There I can walk around in broad daylight and be the most normal looking guy on the street!

Did you find out anything about that car?

It has radio and heater, white walls, and cost over $15,000. The right rear shock needs replacement and—

Did you find anything else, unimportant, like who owns it?!!

It's registered to a maintenance firm: SLEAZEBAG, SLIMEBALL and CREEP!

I just have this gut feeling that there's something about that firm that I don't like!

Aren't you going home, Catrun?

No, I'm working late... Yes, hello, I'd like a pizza and a large coke—oh, and I may have company—uh, also send two cans of Alpo!

I don't have enough evidence to move in on those creeps, Badscent! This office works in a very cautious way. They need at least two murders to establish a possible trouble spot!

I'll break in and look at their records!

You're such a good soul, Badscent! Sometimes I could just kiss you!

I'd rather you just rub my belly!

Here are their records. Listen to this! To clean the Chic Glitz Office Building, they are taking in $200,000 a year! But they're only paying out $10,000 a year to the old people who do all that cleaning!

That's a 2000 percent profit! I mean, if they were selling something to the government, fine! But for the private business sector, that's just too much of a mark-up!

We have enough here to put everyone in this rotten rip-off cleaning company behind bars!

I'm glad I could give you a helping paw, er, hand!

Badscent, why not stop back at my apartment for a drink...

A drink! Great idea! I'd love a saucer of milk!

Catrun, I've decided to move out of the city! I mean, I like where we live—it sure is close to transportation! But—

You can't put up with the hostility and lawlessness?

No, I can't put up with the tough new leash and pooper-scooper laws!

I will go with you. I love you, Badscent! And I think it's real love...not just puppy love!

But I do worry about our differences!
Soothe me, Badscent!
Soothe me with a reading of one of
your favorite sonnets!

Let us flee my love,
before the fleas consume
our passion.
The buds of May scatter,
so may I have a
Bud... Lite...
And summer's leash is short,
and my leash is short.
But love doth linger in
the gutter and sewers
and the windmills of Rome,
which be it closed Tuesdays.
There is silver in thy smile
and gold in them thar hills.
Till death do us part.

That was deep and
incom-
prehensible,
Badscent.

Not unlike our love, Catrun!
Here's another sonnet—
The nosehairs of angels...

Uh...that's enough
sonnet schtick for now! Let's just blow this town together!

YEARS LATER

Badscent,
you've come back!

Only to visit, father. And to make a confession. I promised you I would never marry Catrun, but I did!

But that was too dangerous! I hope you didn't have a
litter—er, a baby!

We did, father, and he turned out to be more than either of us ever hoped for! A son who earns enough cash to keep us both happy!

Dad, say
hi to
our son,
Aif!

But how could you
two conceive
a child?

Hey Gramps, no problem! I was conceived one magical night! You know...candlelight...music...a little champagne and a little Kibbles 'n Bits!
