MAD #365 ON SALE DECEMBER 16!

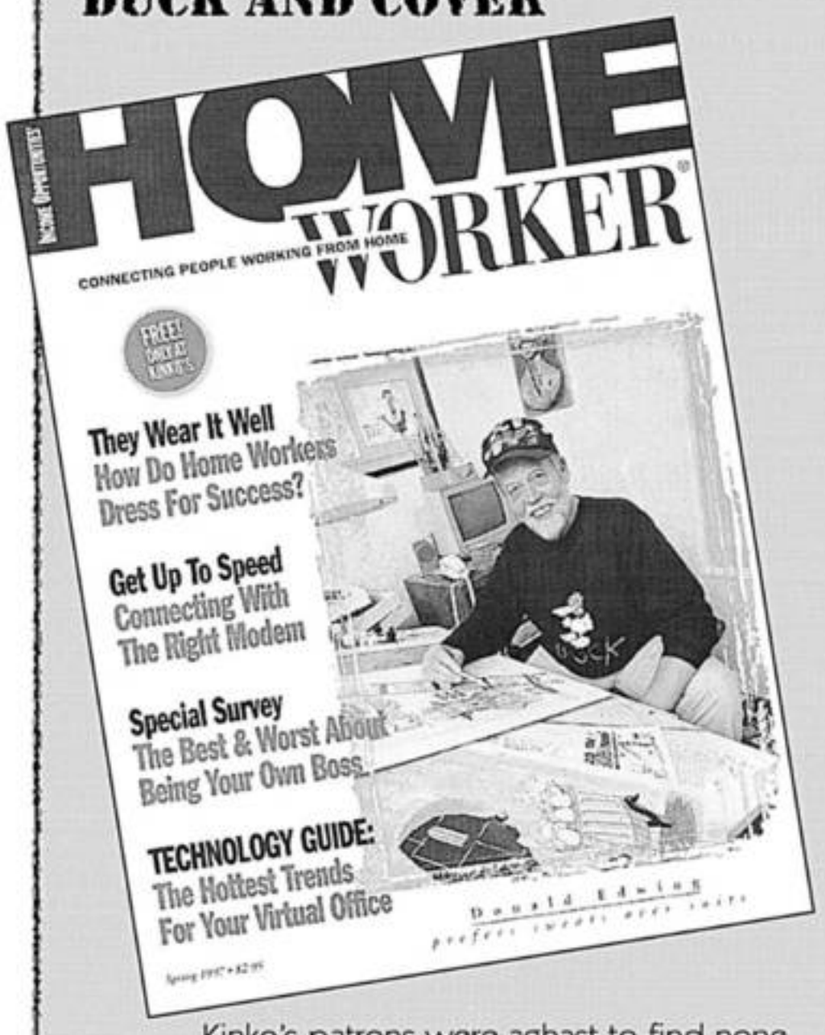
THE GUARDS MUST BE CRAZY

I am writing in regards to your article "So, You're Going to Prison" (Issue #358). During a routine shakedown of my cell (I'm in jail for 48 months for possessing 6 marijuana plants) I was given a confiscation notice that "reading material which threatened the security of the institution" had been seized. That material was MAD #358.

D. A. Hittle
Eastern Oregon Correctional Institute
Pendelton, OR

D.A. — We've always maintained that MAD is a good prison read! If it wasn't for repeat offenders, lifers and the boys on death row, we probably would've been out of business years ago! Sorry, D.A., but in this case we have to side with the guards. Clearly, if they let the prison article you mention through, and inmates started making toilet paper roses and hand knit toilet bowl cozies, it would only be a matter of time before they were scaling the walls and rioting in the Yard! (P.S. as a result of your letter, we're suspending plans to include a hacksaw in every issue of #365...the heat is on!) In the meantime, please give our regards to Slashy and Warden Baldwin! —Ed.

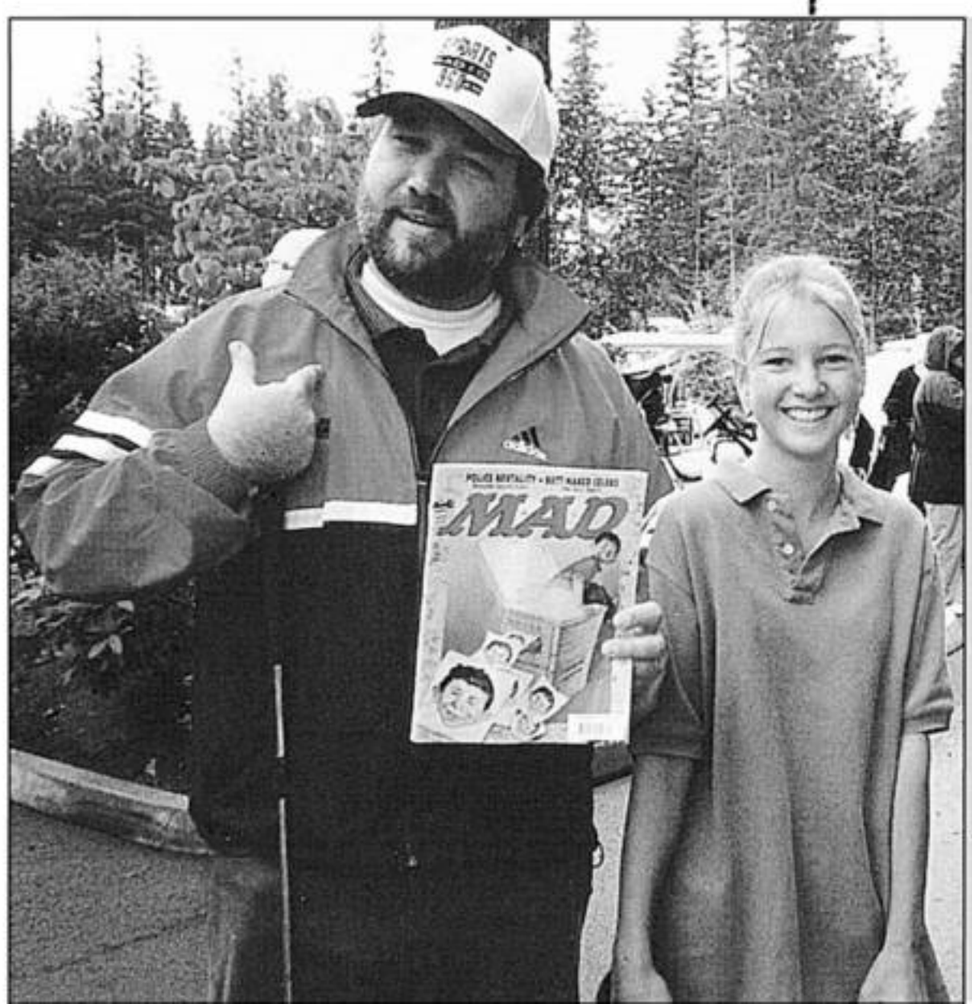
DUCK AND COVER



Kinko's patrons were aghast to find none other than MAD's own Duck Edwing on the cover of the copy store chain's exclusive magazine Home Worker. We were surprised as well, because with what we pay Duck we thought he was homeless!

HOW TO REACH US

Please Address Correspondence To: MAD, Dept. 364, 1700 Broadway, New York, New York 10019. MAD welcomes reader submissions. Manuscripts will not be returned or acknowledged, however, unless they are accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope!



MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

Tim Allen whipping boy Richard Karn was gracious enough to pose for a picture with Carey Proctor of Pt. Orchard, WA and a copy of MAD! This earns Carey a big fat 3-year subscription to our fine publication. Boy! That's quite a HOME IMPROVEMENT! Get it? Fa!

NO MORE MR. ICE GUY

I did not read "Walt Disney Visits His Studio Today" from MAD #357, but I did read the letter from Robert Frankel (MAD #361) in which he refers to unthawing Walt Disney or unthawing Walt Disney's ashes. In either case, the results would still be frozen, since to "unthaw" means to "not thaw".

Mark Isham
Elizabethtown, KY

Marky Mark — You're a thaw loser — just chill! —Ed.

PUT ANOTHER CATALOG ON THE FIRE

I have worked for Ikea going on 8 1/2 years now and was very happy to see that you finally did a spoof on us in issue #360 ("The IKRAPPA Catalogue"). I find this to be a very big compliment to us and feel like we have finally made it!

RedBarTX@aol.com

Red — You enjoyed it? Apparently, like many of the shelving units your company manufactures, you're missing a few screws! You may think this response is as flimsy as some of the end tables you sell, but it's a big letters page — somebody's gotta fill it! Thanks for writing! —Ed.

INQUIRY

Attention MAD subscribers! A few years ago, we started putting brown and then white wrappers on our magazines with jokes(?) on them. We now want a complete list of those wrappers with the issue number and what joke and/or visual gag is on each. The first person to send a complete list to our New York office (Attn. Amy Mavrikis) will receive a special MAD gift! Thank you!

A PAIR OF CHEWS

In "Redneck USA" (MAD #360), you showed a can of Skoal tobacco and ignorantly called it chewing tobacco. You city slickers should know that Skoal isn't chewing tobacco, it's snuff, which is cut finer and isn't chewed. Real chewing tobacco is cut longer and comes in a pouch.

Brandon Elmer
Evansville, WI

Brando —Snuff said! See ya at the mouth cancer clinic! —Ed.

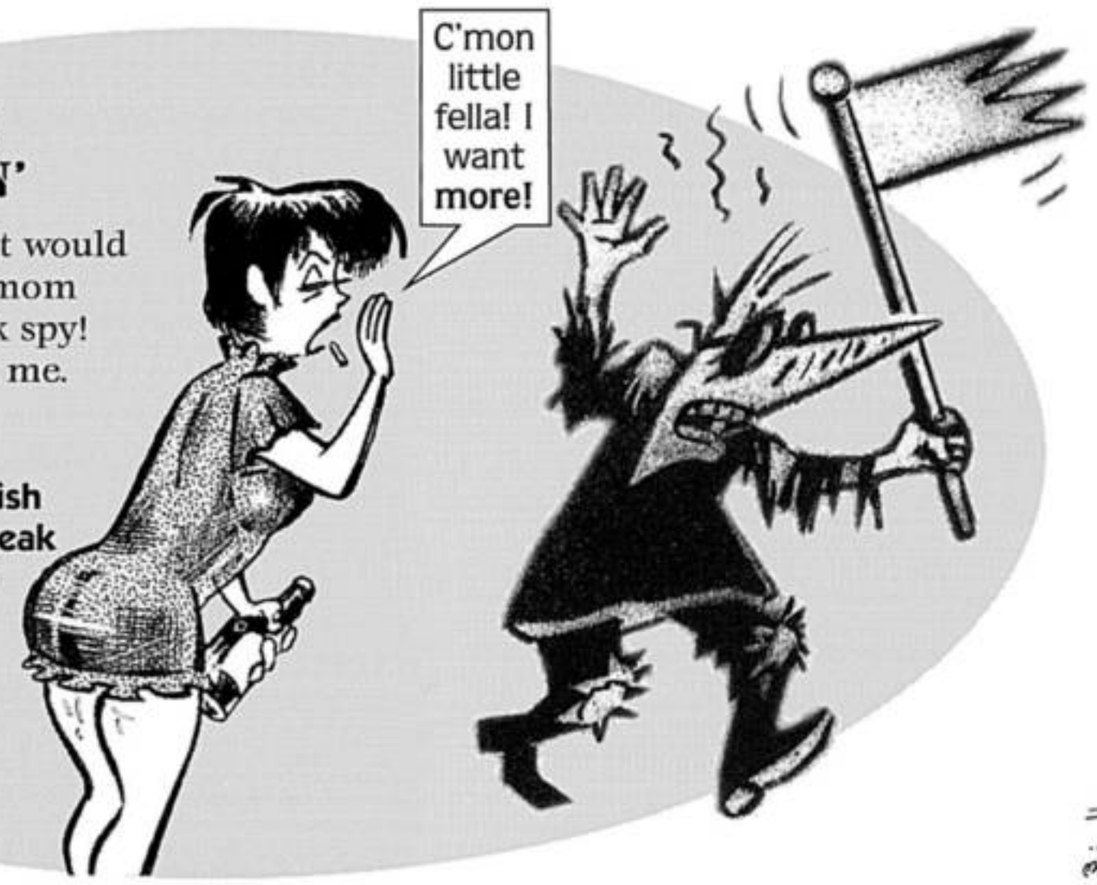
MONROE DOCTORIN'

Monroe rules! Of course it would be cool if in one strip his mom started hitting on the black spy! She would do that...believe me.

DmanChaz@aol.com

Sunny D — All right! Your wish is our command. Here's a sneak peek at our new strip, "Spy Vs. Mom"! Enjoy! —Ed.



ALFRED E-MAIL

I was browsing through your July 1996 issue when I noticed the article "What if God was One of Us?" In the section where God is on the worst-dressed list, it mentioned fashion designer Gianni Versace. I just wanted to make a point that exactly one year later, Versace would be murdered outside his home in Florida.

Tyrant1@aol.com

Ty — And WE want to make the point that on the Letters Page of our December 1997 issue, we mention you, Tyrant1! Have a happy new year and don't forget to duck! —Ed.

COPULATION EXPLOSION

In issue #360 you had an article called "The MAD World of Sex." I didn't think this was appropriate because you might have younger readers who don't understand it.

Lucas Cummins
Franfort, KY

Lucky Luc — You're half right! It's not our readers who don't understand, it's a good portion of our WRITERS who don't understand! In fact, this coming weekend, longtime MAD editor Nick Meglin is having "the talk" with writer Desmond Devlin. "Uncle Nick" has props, charts and hand puppets — the whole nine yards! Trust us, you don't want to be there! —Ed.

ATTENTION SUBSCRIBERS!

For all subscription-related matters (including change of address) in the U.S. and Canada, please call 1-800-4 MAD MAG or write P.O. BOX 52345, Boulder, CO 80322-2345! Please DO NOT phone, write, fax or E-mail our New York office — we're too dumb to help you there!

MATH APPEAL

I have been a MAD fan ever since issue #340. I always read the letters page as soon as I get a new issue. After nearly two years of nothing better to do, I calculated a formula of how to get my letter published. The formula is as follows:

$$\frac{\text{Issue \# + nasty comment (nit-picking)}}{\text{hate-filled threat}} = \text{published letter!}$$

Todd Dooley
Oswego, IL

Here's another formula that you might be interested in, Pythagoras boy: If n = you, then n = Schmuck[10]! Go figure! —Ed.

JERRY-MANDERING DEPT.

The handwriting is on the wall. NBC knows it's just a matter of time before the Seinfeld gang takes their millions and goes home. And when they do, there goes the network's lock on Thursday night. And when Thursday night goes, NBC's number one rating is sure to follow. Soon, stock in its parent company, General Electric, plummets. And when General Electric, which manufactures everything from light bulbs to nuclear weapons goes belly up, our country will be left dark and defenseless, vulnerable to hostile nations all over the world! We can only hope that somewhere, hidden in a vault in Burbank, some slimy TV exec has devised...

NBC's DESPERATE PLANS FOR Seinfeld SPINOFFS

In this show, targeted at the hip, urban audience, George Costanza's father (Jerry Stiller), leaves his wife, moves to Los Angeles and takes a job teaching Korean at a rough South Central High School. At first, cultures clash when Mr. Costanza bans hip-hop music from the school dance in favor of Tony Bennett. But when he befriends the leader of the Crips (French Prince of Bel-Air's Alfonso Ribeiro), the kids learn that he's funky, fresh, phat, dope and down — even though he has no idea what that means!

ARTIST: DREW FRIEDMAN WRITERS: JOE RAIOLA & DAVID SHAYNE

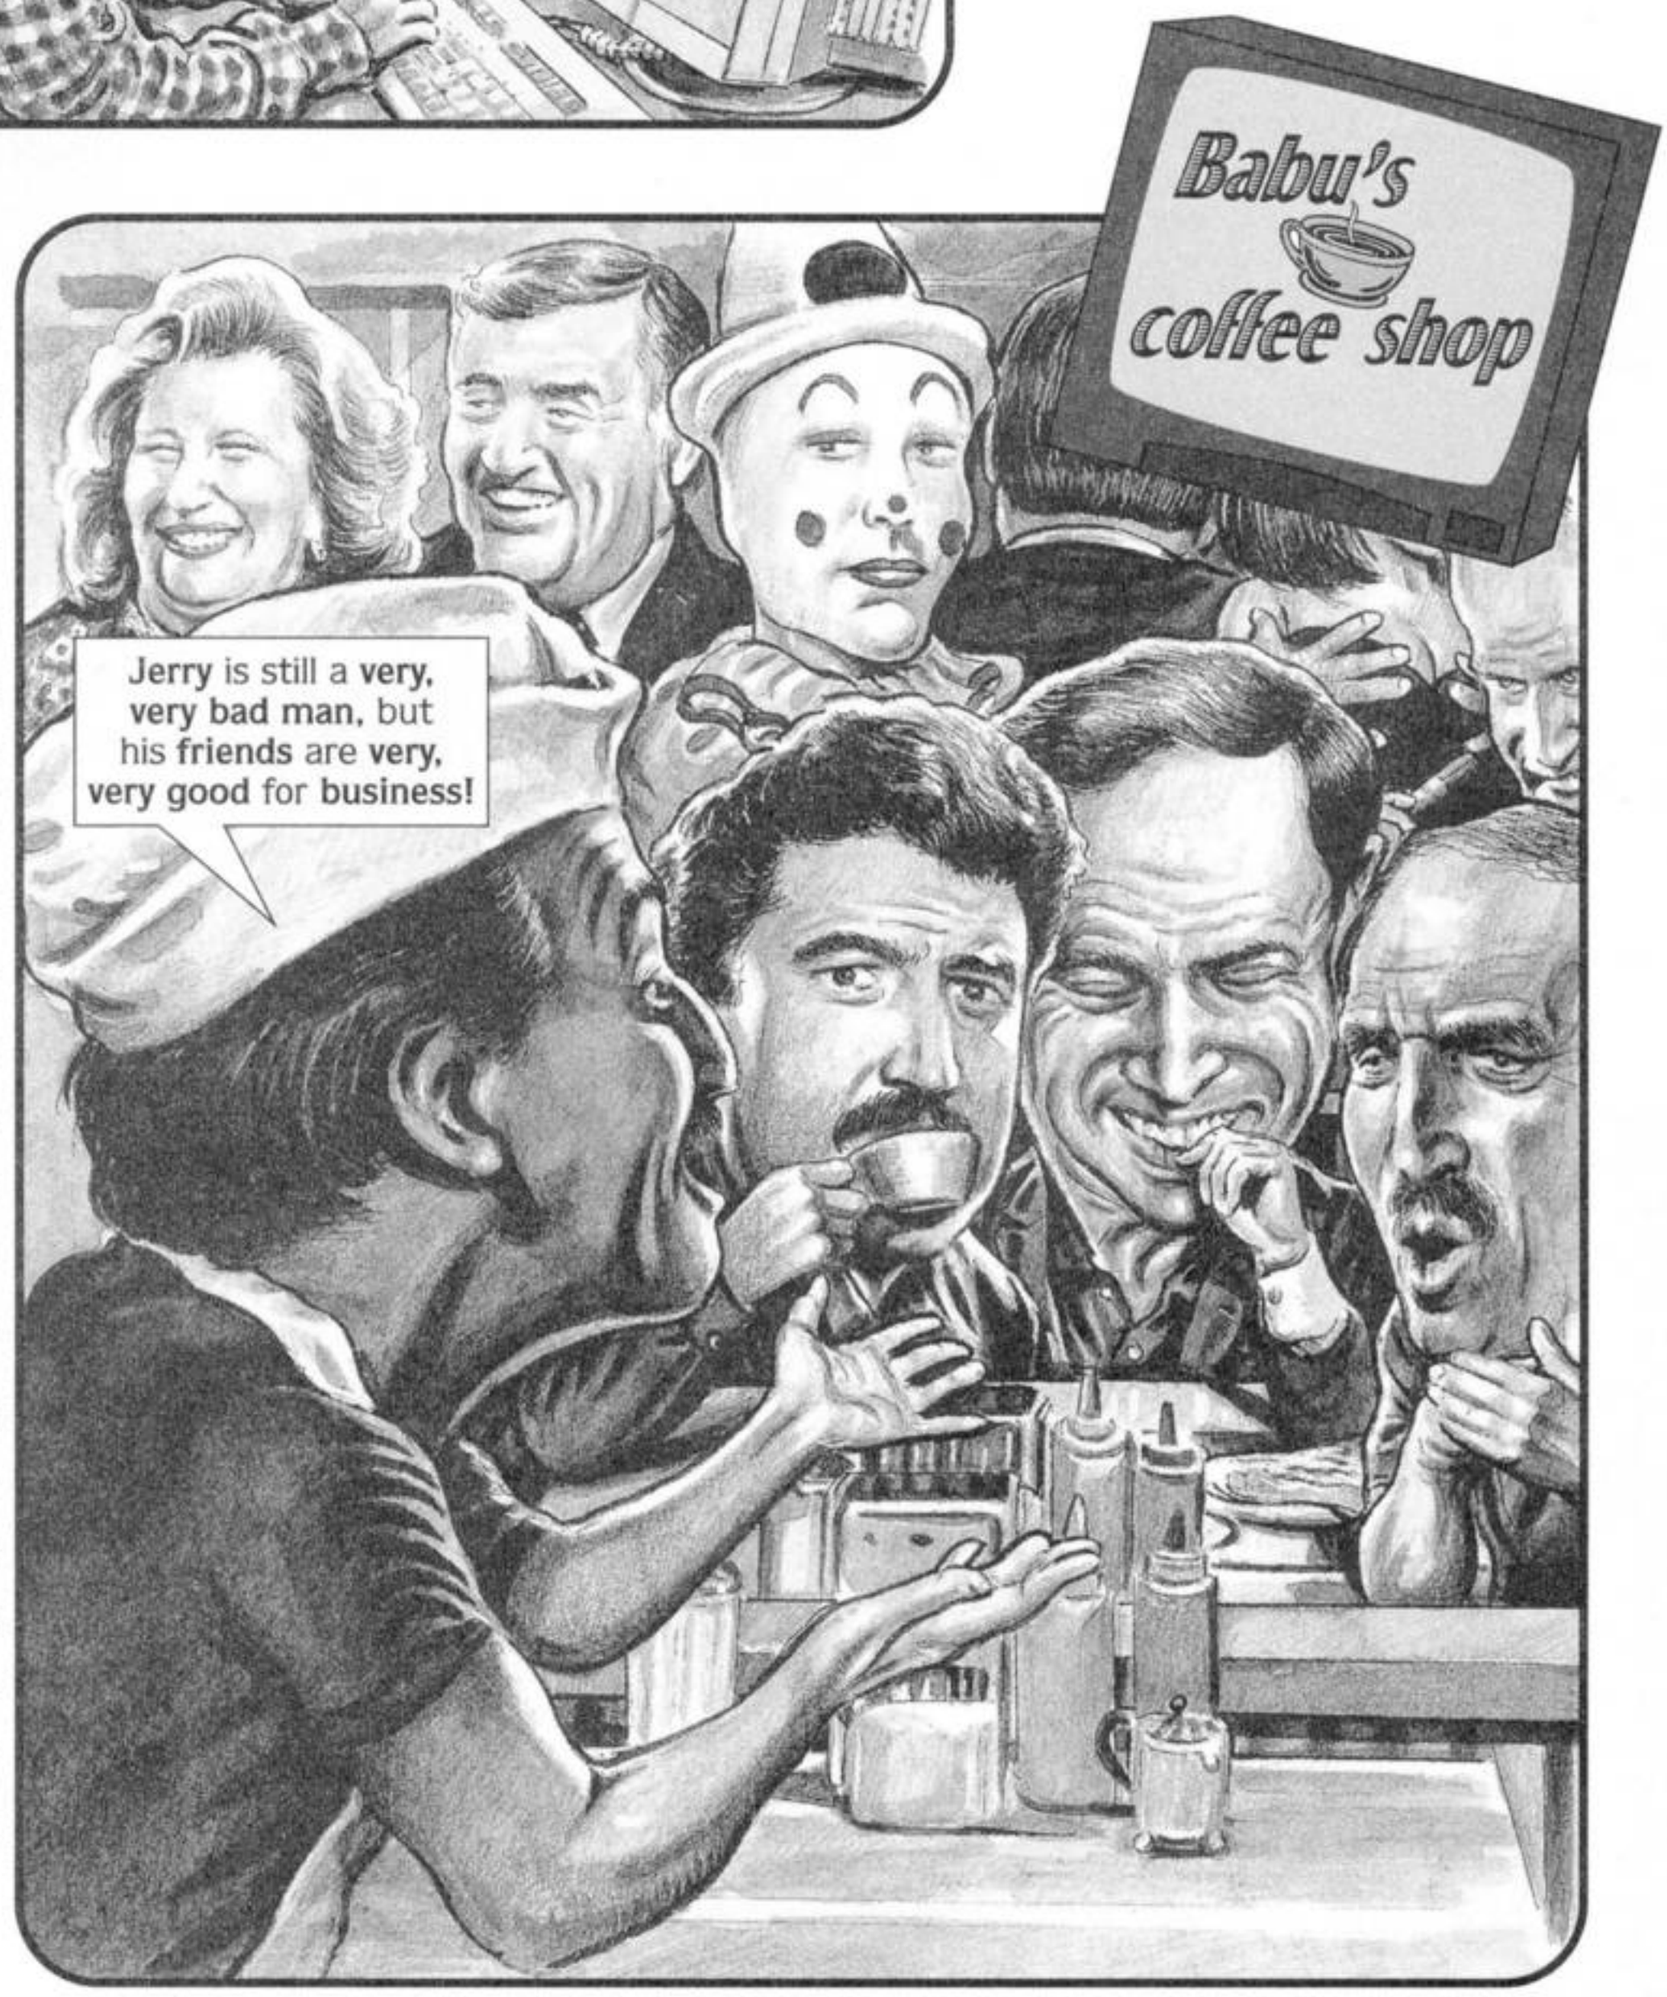
With Julia Louis-Dreyfus demanding two million dollars an episode, plus a diamond-encrusted toilet in her dressing room, the Peacock Network makes a bold move and casts pop music sensation Jewel as the "new" Elaine Benes. To ensure that viewers will accept such a radically different looking Elaine, the show's catchy theme song tells the story of her gruesome car wreck, horrible disfigurement and successful reconstructive plastic surgery. Playing to Jewel's strengths, NBC also makes a few "minor changes" in her character. Due to the accident, the "new" Elaine is no longer witty, outgoing and fun to be with, but is now depressively needy, introspective and spends most of her time trying to perfect her suicide note.

The good news is Michael Richards is back as the voice of Kramer in this new cartoon series in the subversive tradition of The Simpsons. The bad news is that due to his exorbitant salary, NBC must cut costs by having the show produced by a third-rate animation studio in Qandahar, Afghanistan. Rounding out the cast are international "stars" Ezekiel Shabidar, Achmel Barahahaha and Wendy Klein.

Wayne Knight reprises his role as the conniving and rotund Newman in television's first post office drama! In the series' two-hour pilot episode, Newman becomes a member of the ZIP Squad, an elite band of hard-nosed Postal Inspectors dedicated to "eliminating those damn efficient bastards at FedEx and UPS at any cost!" Costarring Ed Asner as "The Chief" and rapper Ice-T as "Jimmy-J," Newman's street-smart homeboy informant.

Seinfeld's most controversial guest character is back! In the pilot episode of this new sit-com, the obnoxious soup chef finally learns the terrible nick-name everyone calls him behind his back — "The Soup Nazi." When his attempts to put an end to it fail, he decides to milk the Nazi label for every-thing it's worth! After studying up on the Third Reich and becoming an expert on the Fuhrer's favorite recipes, he changes the name of his shop to Heil Soup, and quadruples his already booming business by serving up Luftwaffe Lentil, Swastika Noodle Chowder and Gestapo Gazpacho.

With NBC desperate for a show — any show — with the name "Seinfeld" in the title, the producers of Suddenly Susan rename their struggling sitcom. While technically not a Seinfeld spin-off, Suddenly Seinfeld at least has a character named Seinfeld — Jerry's third cousin and Susan's new husband, Howard Seinfeld (Bronson Pinchot). Viewers never actually see or even hear Jerry, but he and his wacky friends are constantly mentioned.



For NBC it's cheap and easy: Assemble all of Seinfeld's recurring and one-shot characters and cram them into a leftover set from the original show. The legendary diner frequented by the old gang is bought out by Jerry's hapless immigrant ex-buddy, Babu. Among the story lines: Crazy Joe Davola stalks Uncle Leo! Poppie convinces George Steinbrenner (back view only) to hire him as the Yankees manager! The Woman With Man Hands accidentally feels up The Woman With Fabulous Breasts (Teri Hatcher)! Mulva marries The Boy In The Bubble! Milos The Tennis Pro and The Drake play Yahtzee with Jerry's parents! Comedian Kenny Bania and ex-big leaguer Keith Hernandez vie for the affection of The Woman Who Invented The Puffy Pirate Shirt! NBC also has plans for a "spin-off-spin-off" featuring every Seinfeld extra who ever had a non-speaking role or was seen briefly in the background.

AN EMBARRASSMENT OF RICHARD'S DEPT.

Americans are getting dumber with every generation. SAT scores are down. Fewer serious books are being published and, hell, if it weren't for the comic strip Nancy, nobody would be opening up a newspaper! But maybe there is no greater proof of just how far we've fallen in the intellectual department than the big increase in "helpful" instructions manufacturers feel compelled to put on their products. Not only do they now tell you to cut on the dotted line, they have to include a little picture of scissors! And don't you just love the envelopes that say, "Use a stamp. The Post Office will not deliver without postage"? Duh! And we fear all of this is just the beginning. How long will it be, brainiac, before you see these...

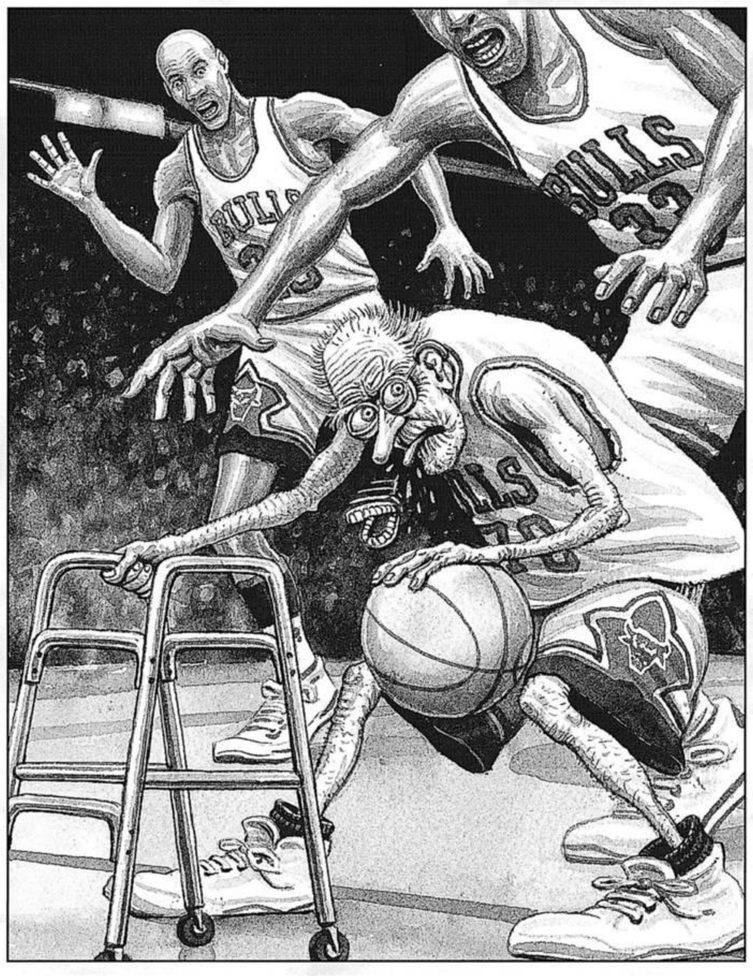
80-YEAR-OLD GUARD TO START TONIGHT FOR THE BULLS



FRED DENBY WARMING UP FOR HIS NBA DEBUT TONIGHT WITH MICHAEL JORDAN AND COMPANY.

CHICAGO, IL, Oct. 10 — After proving in the Supreme Court that the Chicago Bulls basketball team practiced age discrimination by not allowing him to play on their team, 80-year-old Fred Denby will finally get to prove himself on the NBA court.

"My job tonight is to prevent a fast break," said an excited Denby, "and I know I can do it because I'm never going to leave the backcourt and run to the offensive boards. If I did that, I might get a heart attack." The spirited octogenarian added, "All I need is my sneakers, my jock strap and my Depends and I'll give 110%."

MARBLE-MOUTHED ANNOUNCER BLAMED FOR RIOT AT KENTUCKY DERBY

Scene at the payout window at Churchill Downs yesterday. The number four horse, "Lucky Dan," was the only winner. Many confused bettors thought otherwise.

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Kentucky, May 10 (Reuters) — Over one hundred racing fans received minor injuries yesterday when hyper-excited bettors stormed the payout windows immediately following the running of the Kentucky Derby. Virtually all of the fans thought they heard their horse announced as the winner of the prestigious race.

The head of the Kentucky National Guard stated today that the cause of the riot has been traced to track announcer Johnny Blodgett. Blodgett, who suffers from a severe speech impediment had only recently been hired to announce the races after the track lost a lawsuit seeking to bar Blodgett from the job due to his handicap.

"No one can understand the guy," one track official, who requested anonymity remarked. "But the law of the land said we couldn't discriminate against anyone for a physical defect. So when Blodgett applied, we had no choice but to give him the job. It was a time bomb waiting to happen and it happened yesterday."

CIRCUS TRAGEDY KILLS 50 LITTLE PEOPLE

POLICE BLAME 250 LB. "MIDGET"

SANDUSKY, Ohio, Nov. 1 (AP) — Fifty midget circus clowns suffocated to death during a performance last night when the door of their tiny clown car was blocked by a 250-pound so-called midget performer.

Circus authorities identified the overweight clown as John Jakes, aka Jolly Joe. Jakes had just joined the circus after a landmark court decision against weight and height discrimination that stated he could not be denied a job with little people because of his massive size.

"Yeah, the whole thing could have been avoided," claimed an unidentified sideshow geek who witnessed the tragedy, "had that fat freak not insisted on being the first one out of the car." Ambulances rushed to the scene

GROSS INCOMPETENCE DELAYS ROCKET LAUNCHING

Bumbling Technician has Trouble with Countdown

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., July 17 — The launching of the space shuttle Atlantis was postponed indefinitely yesterday after a bewildered NASA technician had trouble counting down backwards from 10.

Randy Grooms, a NASA space program specialist, has been blamed for the delay in the current space mission. Grooms joined NASA after a federal appeals court found in his favor in an I.Q. discrimination suit that ruled no one can be denied employment because of intelligence.

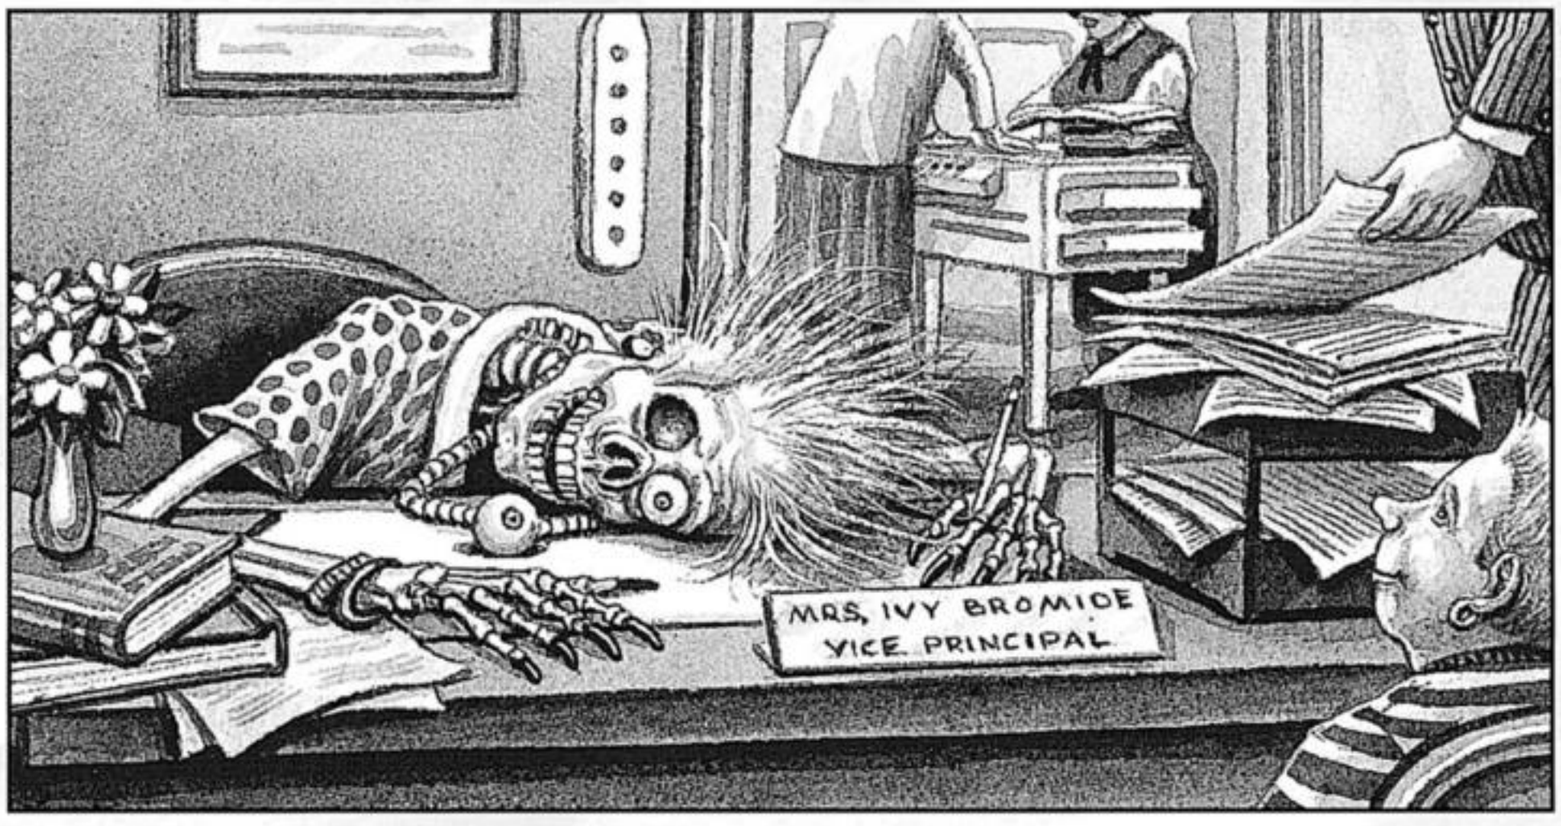
Rookie technician Randy Grooms, counting down for the space shuttle launch. A NASA spokesman said that the launch has been delayed due to "unforeseen problems."

"Since he has difficulty in doing the countdown, the mission has been put on hold," said an exasperated NASA spokesman. But a defiant Grooms defended his actions. "I can count to 10, the right way. Like starting at one and going up to 10. But they want me to start at 10 and go back to one. That confuses me. I know what comes after five, but I'm not sure what comes before it. And I'm not going to take a chance with the lives of our astronauts until I'm damn sure."

Former astronaut turned senator, John Glenn, issued a statement blasting the court's

DEAD PERSON WINS JOB BACK IN LANDMARK DECISION

ACLU Applauds Decision as "A Victory for the Non-Living."



Mrs. Ivy Bromide, back at her desk at Stuyvesant High. She replaces Ms. Millicent Mueller who had taken the assistant principal's job after Mrs. Bromide's recent death.

NEW YORK CITY, NY Dec. 15 — In the first "death discrimination" case in the nation, the late Mrs. Ivy Bromide won her old job back, even though she has been deceased for two months.

In a close split decision, the Supreme Court ruled today that just because someone is no longer alive, that person should not be penalized. "Death," said Justice Clarence Thomas in his majority opinion, "is hard enough without penalizing the person any further."

Justice Thomas also noted that inasmuch as Mrs. Bromide had been an assistant principal of a New York City high school, efficiency was not an issue since being dead doesn't seem to make any difference in the performance of that particular job.

Reaction to the controversial decision was swift with Right-to-Lifers issuing a terse statement in which they declared that they would

In the summer of 1997 the whole world was abuzz when an exploratory craft landed on Martian soil and began sending data back to Earth. Since all of us here at MAD happen to have advanced degrees in astronomy, we thought we would help out all you ignorant laymen by explaining these...

IMPORTANT LESSONS LEARNED FROM THE MARS PATHFINDER MISSION

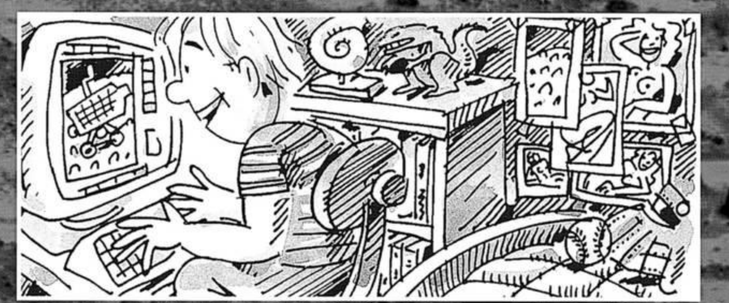
ARTIST: TOM HACHTMAN WRITER: ANDREW J. SCHWARTZBERG

The Pathfinder mission took 9,669 pictures of Mars in 30 days, or about half as many pictures as tabloid photographers took of John Kennedy Jr. in the same period.

The unusually high concentration of silicon found in Martian rocks is seen nowhere on Earth except on Sunset Blvd. in Los Angeles.

The Martian surface is the exact shade of red that Dennis Rodman's hair was when he kicked that reporter in the 'nads.

With rocks named Yogi, Casper and Scooby-Doo, it would appear NASA scientists spend a lot more time watching the Cartoon Network than their computer screens.

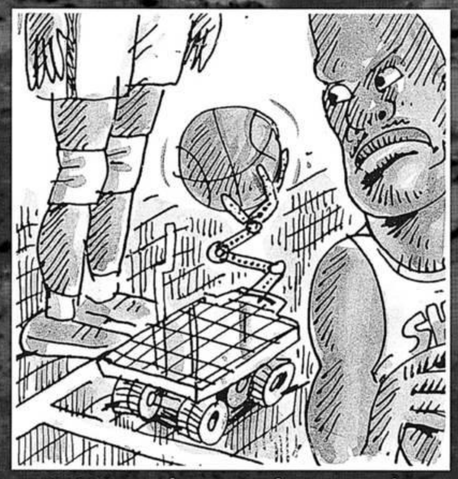


The day after Pathfinder landed, its web site got millions of hits, proving that not everyone on the net is there to just look for nude photos of Drew Barrymore, Gillian Anderson and Alyssa Milano.

Though scientists know that oceans existed on Mars millions of years ago, the rover's continuing search for a fossilized lifeguard chair has so far proved fruitless.

Since the Sojourner is operated by an Intel microchip, NASA engineers spend the vast majority of their workday on hold with tech support.

The Sojourner travels at a top speed of 120 feet-per-hour, meaning it goes twice as fast as the average vehicle leaving a stadium parking lot after an NFL game.



NASA spent about as much money on the Pathfinder mission as the Lakers did on Shaquille O'Neal, however the rover can shoot free throws with a much higher degree of accuracy than Shaq ever will.

It is faster to get pictures developed on a planet 200 million miles away than it is at your local drug store.

The camcorder has been around long enough that the first wave of purchasers are starting to die — which means that their children will soon be discovering the homemade "erotic" tapes their parents forgot to burn or erase before croaking.

With ongoing "will they or won't they?" sexual tension becoming such a big subtext of every single TV series, next year's episodes of Barney and Friends, This Old House and Primetime Live should be REAL interesting.

Howard Stern has conquered radio, TV, Pay-Per-View, books and movies — can the world of opera be far behind?

Now that he's made a bundle re-releasing an enhanced version of Star Wars, look for George Lucas to digitally update the rest of his films, starting with Howard the Duck.

There are adults — rational, college-educated adults — who read, and enjoy, the comic strip Ziggy.

With the boost that the infamous "front seat" sexcapade gave Hugh Grant's career, you know that Paul Hogan HAS to be thinking about it.

As senility approaches, Bob Dylan's new lyrics are bound to get a little more confused, and his voice a little more creaky.

To keep his fans interested, Marilyn Manson will have to come up with something even more gimmicky next year.

If 90% of the scientists who ever lived are alive right now, that means that 90% of the mad scientists are too.

In 50 or 60 years, the weekly sing-along sessions at old folks' homes and retirement communities will consist of "Black Hole Sun," "Gangsta Gangsta" and "Head Like A Hole."

This is already the fourth installment of "Chilling Thoughts" in about a year — and the people responsible for all four are still in reasonably good health.

Once upon a time, if a stand-up comic was going to get his or her own sitcom, they had to have real talent, like Bill Cosby, Roseanne or Jerry Seinfeld. Soon the networks turned to the B-list: folks like Tim Allen, Martin Lawrence, Sinbad and Ellen DeGeneres. After that, they got REALLY desperate and signed up Brett Butler. Then, with Shecky Greene refusing to leave Vegas, Carrot Top estimating his prop budget to be $1 million per show and Jackie Mason's bum ticker keeping him at home, ABC had no choice but to drag the sludge-filled bottom of the Giggle Shack barrel to find you-know-who!
