ENVELOPE OF THE MONTH

I have been sending envelopes this past week in hopes of you publishing one of them. I've been asking for a free subscription and I'm going to continue asking for that year's freeloading for both fun and perhaps profit. In truth, I would like one day to draw for MAD, but somehow I suspect I do not have the skill. I have no art education, I taught myself how to draw from Heavy Metal, MAD and Marvel Comics. So thanks for inciting this obsession.

Noah Sorah, Manassas Park, VA

Just Say Noah — We also have no art education! Which may explain why we like your envelope so much! Enjoy your one-year subscription! —Ed.

ESTEEM ENGINE

I've been a MAD fan for a few years now and have noticed that a big part of your humor is making fun of your magazine itself. Why is that? A lot of times in the Letters and Tomatoes Department you make jokes saying MAD is a waste of time and that your readers are stupid. I love MAD and I don't think I'm stupid! You guys should show some more confidence!

Cameron Evans, Goleta, CA

Son of Cam — You're right! We're confident that MAD is a waste of time and our readers are stupid. Thanks for the pep talk! —Ed.

READER ALERT

Those of you who had your letters printed on this Letters Page will receive The Rough Guide to Video Games, courtesy of our friends at Rough Guides, and The Godfather: The Coppola Restoration DVD collection (that includes all three Godfather movies), courtesy of our friends at Paramount Home Entertainment. For those who didn't have their missives included, don't sleep with the fishes, they're both on sale now!

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

Pam and I were photographed by a friend in Malibu. We are both vegetarians (note the V pins) which is one proof we have good taste and are sane. We thought another proof would be holding up a copy of MAD magazine.

Ingrid Newkirk, President of PETA, Norfolk, VA

'Gridlock — What impressed us most about your snap, was that you managed to catch a rare shot of Pam Anderson showing a hint of cleavage — usually it's nothing but turtlenecks and high-laced collars for her! Congrats on your three-year subscription, we're sure you'll want to get it leather-bound. While enjoying a hot dog. In your fur coat. Thanks for sending in the picture! —Ed.

PAM AND INGRID

MEATY ISSUE OF MAD

SCRATCH OF THE DAY

Hey now! I'm not gonna buy a MAD Scratch ticket! You didn't even show us a winner! Then again, I'm not pathetic enough to live in Delaware. Cheers! Keep the MAD coming!

Mark Guthrie, Puyallup, WA

Raiders of the Lost Mark — You don't live in Delaware? Then you're already a winner! Still, tough break on living in a place called Puyallup! It sounds like a gurgling drain! —Ed.

THE CHAUVENISM MUST GO ON

I have noticed that most of the letters you put in your magazine are written by men. Is that because you're sexist? Anyway, put my letter in the magazine and I won't press charges.

Natasha Kanji, Irvine, CA

Kanji Cane — You got it, sweetcheeks! —Ed.

A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE'S SPEECH THAT REALLY SAYS NOTHING!

My fellow Americans. These are troubled times, not only for you and for me, but for us.

Right now, Wall Street is in a slump. But mark my words; that will change once stocks make a rebound. Likewise, I'm equally confident that it will cost us less to fill up our tanks once the price of gas starts dropping. As far as finding new sources of energy, the course of action is clear: we must look for them! But throughout all of this, one thing we must never lose sight of is our vision. Just as we must listen to what we hear and do what it is we do, we must take the steps necessary to move in a direction in which we are going.

To those who question my position on religion, let me just say that I pray that Church and State will always be kept separate, and I will work towards that end — so help me God!

My opponents claim my positions are contradictory. They are both right and wrong. This is what makes America great! But always remember, there are no easy answers, yet I promise to look for them anyway. Regarding my honesty and integrity, there is nothing to question.

Now, I won't stand here and make promises I can't keep, but if elected, I guarantee you I will be the most recently-elected President in this country's glorious history.

In closing, let me end with this conclusion: Our future lies ahead of us! God bless you and God bless America!

Passwords. Some need six characters. Some need eight characters. Some need only letters. Some need letters AND numbers. We swear we've had to create and remember more passwords than the freakin' French Underground during all of World War II.

Coming across some mutant geek emphatically arguing that the Internet and the World Wide Web aren't the same thing. They may be right, but it makes us realize that a nerd and a schmuck ARE the same thing.

Parental control software like CyberPatrol and Net Nanny. Great idea: now there's nowhere kids can see smutty images...as long as you don't count cable TV, DVDs and the computers at their friends homes, where the parents are more realistic.

iTunes is convenient, easy to use, has a huge catalog of selections and isn't that expensive. What makes our skin crawl is every time we buy a song, we're putting 99 cents in the pocket of that pompous, mock turtleneck-wearing mega-tool Steve Jobs.

The galling fact that no matter how much time you spend monitoring blogs, poring over YouTube and scouring the Web, you're never ever the first person in your circle of friends to see something on the web.

The harsh truth that no one, NO ONE, not a single solitary individual in all of recorded Internet history has EVER won a free iPod by correctly identifying Jessica Simpson.

23»

After winning a ferocious eBay bidding war, finding out that the description of the item you won failed to mention that it also smells like an odd combination of mothballs, curdled milk and cough syrup.

24»

The proliferation of nonsensical podcasts and video podcasts by braindead uber-losers that make Andy Rooney's trifling whining sound like The Gettysburg Address in comparison.

29»

The extra, useless sheet of paper with a single line of unneeded type on it that always seems to appear whenever you print out something from a webpage.

30»

People on Craigslist who indicate that their personal ad includes a picture, but when the headline is clicked on, the picture turns out to be of a rainbow, or a sunset, or a kitten. Raised expectations and dashed hopes — they've just demonstrated what 99% of all online dating is like.

31»

Illegally downloading a movie from a peer-to-peer file-sharing web site in order to save 12 bucks, and then getting sued by a movie studio for 12 thousand bucks. We don't know which is worse: having to pay the fine or the shame and embarrassment that comes with the whole world finding out you wanted to see Soul Plane.

32»

Netflix and Blockbuster Video's assumption that, after installing a $20,000 HD widescreen home theater system with digital surround sound and leather reclining theater seats, people would rather see a movie streamed online while hunched over a 17" computer monitor.

33»

Friends and co-workers who pressure you to watch the "Two Girls, One Cup" video, then videotape you watching it and post that on YouTube. Those people can go s#!$ in their hat.

34»

When we just want to try a new video game demo, but first have to scroll through and "accept" terms of service agreements only slightly longer than the latest Stephen King novel. We never read them and don't know anyone who does. Hell, for all we know we may have clicked away our right to a trial by jury, signed over our pet to medical science or declared ourselves involuntary organ donors.

35»

39»

Online degrees. Finally, an answer to the question academics have been asking for ages: is it possible to water down the educational system even more?

40»

That maudlin, weepy YouTube video of the guys who released their pet lion into the wild and then went to visit it a year later. We would have bookmarked it if, instead of a tearful reunion, the bloodthirsty beast went all Siegfried and Roy on them.

41»

Philosophers who drone on and on about the role of the internet and what it symbolically represents in a postmodern society. Hey, Voltaire, here's what it represents: an easy way to order stuff tax-free, research stuff it would take months to find in a library, and look at world-class porn. Hope your ivory tower paradigm wasn't shattered by the obvious.

42»

When you accidentally roll over a banner ad that suddenly expands to totally block your screen. It reminds us of the big fat guy who always seems to sit directly in front of us at the movies, you know?

43»

After all these years, MapQuest STILL throws in one inexplicable turn on your driving directions that has you doing a u-ey behind what looks like an uninspected meat packing plant run by guys in sunglasses and fezzes.

THE DARKER SIDE OF THE LIGHTER SIDE

We tamper with classic Dave Berg strips, even though nobody asked us to — especially not Dave!

I really hate visiting next door! Whatever I say I have, she always has to PUT ME DOWN and then TOP ME!

That's just her way of feeling important!

I really don't care WHAT her reasons are! It's downright ANNOYING!

So don't talk about anything GOOD!

Hi, Sam! Hi, Gladys! How are you?

To tell the truth, I'm not feeling well! I've had this terrible cold and it's gone to my chest! I'll probably end up with pneumonia...

I've had DOUBLE pneumonia!

Big deal! Pneumonia!

An important message from MAD's
Director of Business & Development,
JEFFREY LOZENGE

It is often said that "the fruit doesn't fall far from the pond" and that "if you want something done right, forget it." To that, I might add, "a pound of cheese is good, especially if it's good cheese." My point is clear.

MAD — the magazine whose time is and was and continues to be — was never read by Vikings. They were too busy marauding and being fitted for helmets. You, on the other hand, can have the best of both worlds. You can subscribe to MAD and be a Viking.

But who in today's modern world has time to be a Viking, you ask? Who indeed? The hours are long and the pay meager. Which is why you should subscribe to MAD. Yes, MAD. If Vikings had their own mail service and knew how to read and weren't so busy marauding and getting fitted for helmets, it would have been their magazine.

So, be like me. Be like a Viking.

SHOW ME THE FUNNY

I used to love reading your magazine and the MAD books as a young boy as they made me laugh uproariously. I just received a MAD for the first in more than thirty years (#492) and read it from cover to cover. While I was impressed with the animation, I found almost no humor — I felt not a giggle, not a chuckle, not a tee-hee while I read it. Can you help me regain my sense of humor because it can't be the magazine's fault?

Glen Biglaiser, Lubbock, TX

It's Raining Glen — You enjoyed the animation? We don't know what moonshine you're dipping into down there in Texas, but it must be some strong stuff! Last time we checked, the drawings were completely immobile. It sounds like not finding it funny is the LEAST of your problems! Clean out your still and try again! Bottoms up! —Ed.

DEWEY DISMAL SYSTEM

MAD #489 was the first MAD that I ever purchased. This made me think a lot, I now feel like I have been missing out on what could be the best magazine ever published. I want to know if the offer you made Chris Behen of Danvers, MA about taking a picture with a head librarian and getting a free subscription applies to everyone. If so, I have completed this rigorous task. I don't know if Chris did it, but I know I had no problem going up to the head librarian of the Montebello Library. At first she looked at me kind of weird, I guess 'cause nobody has ever asked her to do this. As you can see, she still took the picture with me and MAD anyway. Hope to hear from you really really really soon and please send me MAD!

Joshua Quezada, Los Angeles, CA

Que-za-da, za-da, Whatever Will Be, Will Be — O.K., sure, even though you're not Chris Behen of Danvers, MA, we admire your pluck and moxie and your love of all things library-related. Congratulations on your one-year subscription, we hope your courage inspires that weasel Chris Behen to finally overcome his fear of head librarians! —Ed.

THREE RING CIRCUITS

When we printed our spoof of a Circuit City flyer in MAD #492, we had no idea what kind of reaction we'd get. The store (which sells magazines in some of its locations) issued a memo to employees telling them to remove and destroy all of their issues of MAD. However, once the memo was leaked and the press picked up on it, Circuit City apologized for overreacting and had a good laugh over the whole misunderstanding. The entire back and forth was reported in the news including USA Today and MSNBC. To find out more, head to Google. We just hope that our complimentary 42-inch plasma TVs are on the way!

CHURCH AND DESTROY

I have been a MAD magazine reader since the beginning of this year and ever since I've been having strange dreams. My dreams consist of me meeting celebrities and me wishing I had a MAD and a camera with me so I can get a free three-year subscription. These dreams have been getting weirder and weirder. Once I was at an ice skating rink, then in a house of mirrors and once even in the middle of the ocean...but not once did I bring a MAD. So now I'm carrying around a MAD where ever I go (yes, in bodies of water too) just in case. Please end my pain and publish my letter in your magazine so I can stop taking MADs into church, because apparently, they frown upon your humor (like everyone else)!

Spencer Jay, Marysville, WA

One Jay at a Time — Not every religion frowns upon our humor. Maybe it's time you start looking into the Church of MADer Day Saints. Of course, it's not so much a religion as it is a cult started by MAD writer David Shayne. Still, if you can get past his multiple feline brides and his policy of mandatory urine storage for all parishioners, you'll find he has a very lax attitude about bringing MAD to church. Amen and thanks for writing! —Ed.

» If you've been spending pretty much every waking minute of every day at your computer emailing, instant messaging, flaming, flirting, posting, networking, webcasting, illegally downloading and one-handed web surfing, blogging, bidding, buying, browsing, buffering, gaming, gawking, gossiping, dating, chatting, you might want to take a few minutes to see why we've been doing the same things — to research...

MAD'S 50 WORST THINGS ABOUT THE INTERNET

The one person in a billion who actually orders the "miracle" penis enlargement pills — guaranteeing we'll all continue to be bombarded with spam for them until the next 1-in-a-billion mook comes along.

That douche-bomb who took a picture of himself every day for six years and posted it on YouTube. Hey, skippy, the only video of you we want to see is a montage of 2,190 daily shots of your occupied casket.

6» Online porn sites! We'll tell you the worst thing about them! It's...well...we spent hours and hours looking at them day and night, and couldn't find a single thing to complain about — except maybe that there aren't enough of them.

7» Not that a Google search of "George Bush sucks" gets 451,000 hits, but that "George Bush rules" gets 579,000 hits!

"Gaming" websites, where the biggest gamble is sharing your credit card information with an offshore entity exempt from any U.S. laws, then playing games programmed by the house, which operates under no casino authority or commission rules whatsoever. Now THAT'S gambling!

9» Receiving the "Send this message to 10 people in the next 10 minutes and a miracle will happen!" chain emails. Unless the "miracle" is that we'll never have crap like this clog our inbox ever again, we're not interested.

Online ads in which little people suddenly stroll onto your monitor screen and start gesturing and talking to you. It made us realize that if annoying, bug-sized people like this really existed in our world, we'd have no problem killing them.

11» Blogs. Who really wants to spend all their time reading the rants and musings of uninformed boors? (To read the full, extended version of this thought, visit www.myspace.com/worldofmad.)

12» Breaking News from CNN.com. When we signed up, we expected email bulletins on assassinations, natural disasters and war. Instead, we learn there's more trouble in the Hulk Hogan household, a sort-of-racy Miley Cyrus photo is in circulation, and Madonna is boffing another professional athlete.

Web "celebrities" who cross over to other media. As far as we're concerned, Tila Tequila, Tay Zonday and that "Leave Britney alone" guy can all take a near-fatal leap off a platform, like that newswoman stepping on grapes did a few years back.

14» The way the hot social networking site Friendster... what? Oh, the way the hot social networking site MySpace...huh? OK, the way the hot social networking site Facebook will quickly become forgotten as yesterday's news. A friend at LinkedIn told us that.

While it's easier than ever to cut and paste school papers from the web, it's also easier than ever for your teachers to figure out that you cut and pasted your school papers from the web.

Obviously, there are many differences between the Bush Administration and Family Guy. One suffers from sagging ratings (from the public) while the other enjoys soaring ratings (in the Nielsens). The Griffins use tons of visual gags, while the President's humor is mostly verbal (you simply can't underestimate Dubya's hilarity!). Amazingly, though, there are also a number of similarities that connect the First Family and the cartoon clan from Quahog. It's gonna be freakin' sweet when you recognize...

A LONG-SUFFERING WIFE WHO HAS
INEXPLICABLY STUCK WITH HER LAME-ASS HUSBAND WAAAAAY TOO LONG...

THEY'RE BOTH CONTROLLED BY A VAST,

Whatever you call it — “Ultimate Fighting,” “Mixed Martial Arts,” “Two Dudes Savagely Beating The Hell Out Of Each Other” — the sport is more popular than ever! It’s breaking Pay Per View records, it’s being televised more and more, and fighters like Chuck Liddell and Tito Ortiz are even popping up in the mainstream! But what does the future hold for the sport? Who will be the stars of tomorrow? Glad you asked! Here are the...

UP-AND-COMING MIXED MARTIAL ARTS FIGHTERS

WRITER: JEFF KRUSE
ARTIST: HERMANN MEJIA

EGBERT STERNUM III

INTRO SONG: “Pop Goes the Weasel”

AFFILIATION: North American Head-butter’s League

EDUCATION: Doctorate in pain from the University of Whoop-Ass (metaphorical degree only)

WHAT I LIKE ABOUT TOURING: “I get to spend less time with my family.”

BRAGGING RIGHTS: Led the league in moral victories in 2004.

TRADEMARK MOVE: The ShinBlast Special™. Really, it’s actually trademarked, so you have to use the ™ symbol when you write it.

VINCENTE del GUAPO

AGE: 78

INTRO SONG: Desperate Housewives Opening Theme

AFFILIATION: Senior Kickboxing Association

LAST TV APPEARANCE: Finished second on Jeopardy! during “Bloodsports Week.”

RECENT SCANDAL: Tested positive for estrogen injections, which aren’t illegal, but still kind of embarrassing.

OUTSIDE THE RING: “I’m actually a pretty easy-going guy who almost never kicks people in the stomach.”

CORVIS O’JETT

INTRO SONG: “Imagine”

AFFILIATION: Brotherhood of African-American Face-Pounders, Local 503

NICKNAME: Affectionately known as “The Jackie Robinson of MMA,” but that’s only because he always wears a Brooklyn Dodgers cap, not for some courageous breaking of boundaries or anything.

HOBBIES: Boar hunting, knitting tea cozies

KEYS TO SUCCESS: “I have to thank my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, as well as Gold’s Gym, not necessarily in that order.”

LAST TV APPEARANCE: Cameo role as a head trauma victim on House, MD

STEVE “EVEN STEVEN” TYMANN

INTRO SONG: “Goin’ to the Chapel”

AFFILIATION: North American Pseudo-Boxing League

DIVISION: Vultureweight

DISTINGUISHING MARKS: Tattoo of a skull on his left bicep, and vice-versa

LAST TV APPEARANCE: Fighting a parking ticket on Judge Hatchet.

WHAT WILL YOU DO AFTER YOUR FIGHTING CAREER IS OVER?: “I can’t imagine life without ultimate fighting. So I guess the answer to the question would be ‘die.’”

LAMIA ZANGARRIANA

INTRO SONG: “My Bologna”

AFFILIATION: Women’s Association of Hitting & Kicking

LAST TV APPEARANCE: The FOX reality show Kidney-Punching with the Stars

ENDORSEMENTS: Vlasic pickles, The Brookings Institute, Prozac, Dean Witter

FAVORITE MOMENT FROM OTHER SPORT: “Ron Artest going into the stands in Detroit. I have the director’s cut on DVD.”

PRE-MATCH MEAL: Raw python meat, jalapeño peppers and a sippy cup of Ovaltine

THOUGHTS ON MMA: “Through the sport, I’ve discovered who I am: a spiteful woman who likes to publicly inflict pain.”

HIDEO “BOBBY” TAMAZUKA

INTRO SONG: “My Humps”

AFFILIATION: Pan-Asian Multiple Fighting Concern, Inc.

CLAIM TO FAME: Operates Tokyo’s only drive-thru karate school

CHILDHOOD PREPARATION: Began learning the ancient Japanese art at the age of 5. Unfortunately, that art was origami, and he didn’t get around to martial arts lessons until last year sometime.

ENDORSEMENTS: Rolex, eHarmony.com, The 99¢ Store

THE SIMILARITIES BETWEEN MMA AND BOXING: “Apparently, you can’t use an aluminum bat in either. I learned that the hard way.”

OVERHEARD AT THE BARACK OBAMA RALLY IN GERMANY

I bet Chancellor Merkel can't wait until this guy gives her a backrub!

Obama's fly is open. Should I tell him? Someone should tell him...

What the..?!?!
That's not Hasselhoff!!!
Damn you, StubHub!!!

Ooh, the Secret Service has t-shirt cannons!
Me! Me! Me!

So the question on everyone's mind now is: did Obama just give a wave, or was it a "terrorist hand sweep"?
Shepard Smith, Fox News, reporting!

I only came to this 'cause The Dark Knight was sold out!

Who is this Waldo and how the f*#k should I know where he is?!?
Stop giggling, you dummkopf!

Freebird! Play Das Freebird!

My Great Grandfather says he saw John McCain speak on this very spot, doing the warmup for Kaiser Wilhelm!

Should I ask Barack to sign my left boob or my right boob?

Hey, where's Paris Hilton and Britney Spears?
I thought Barack hangs with those frauleins!

I don't think the translator is very good.
According to him, Barack just said "America needs to grind the wrench and caress the golfcart for radishes"!

Obama's going to be into his second term by the time he finishes tagging all these people on Facebook!

When we Germans all rally behind an energetic, emerging political figure, what could possibly go wrong?

It's nice to be in such a small crowd after that Miley Cyrus concert!

Somebody said there would be bratwurst und schnitzel!

They were brilliant to market this as "Baracktoberfest."

I'm not sure if America can handle a president with such a fit ass.

When did you visit our restaurant?

☐ Today ☐ Yesterday ☒ Other

Months ago. I just keep logging on here every few days trying to win that $1,000 the receipt promises.

Did one of our employees greet you?

☐ Yes ☒ No

While an employee didn't greet me, a guy panhandling for spare change between the drive-thru lane and just outside the door did.

Was your order taken promptly?

☒ Yes ☐ No

By "yes" I mean that I was abruptly asked what I wanted to order the very second I opened the door, while I was standing 20 feet from the counter and hadn't even looked at the menu board.

Did you order breakfast from our breakfast menu?

☐ Yes ☒ No

I tried to, because the breakfast menu was still on display, but your employee said they stopped serving breakfast twelve seconds before I got there.

Did our server tell you about our exciting new menu items?

☒ Yes ☐ No

If you mean "Was the mandatory practice of forcing our employees to lifelessly recite some come-on scrawled on an index card taped to the register to somehow convince you to try whatever new, overpriced and unhealthy combination of meat, cheese and jalapeño peppers we're pushing this month enforced?" then I suppose that'd be "Yes."

Are you aware of our Healthy Alternachoices™ menu items?

☐ Yes ☒ No

You must be kidding! If I was interested in eating "healthy," do you really think I'd be coming in here?

Did you enjoy the speed and ease of ordering a Valu-Meal by number from our menu board?

☐ Yes ☒ No

"Speed and ease" aren't the phrases that come to mind when your employees routinely confuse a #3 with a #7 and you're half a mile away before you realize that instead of the chicken wrap you wanted, you're stuck with a greasy fish sandwich containing the allergic-reaction-inducing tartar sauce that sends you to the emergency room.

Were our employees attentive in keeping the dining room area neat and clean?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Not so much "attentive" as "obsessive-compulsive," and not so much "the entire dining room area" as "the floor directly beneath my table" which your employee passive-aggressively attempted to vacuum while I tried to eat in peace, as though this was the only time in her entire eight-hour shift that she would have a chance to clean this specific 2-foot by 2-foot area.

Were there salt and pepper shakers on your table?

☐ Yes ☒ No

There were pairs of pepper shakers on all the tables on one side of the restaurant, and pairs of salt shakers on all the tables on the other side, which can probably be attributed to an unattended and bored six-year-old looking for something to do while Mommy finishes her Grilled Baby Cranberry Caesar Ranchero Salad, or an employee who's unfamiliar with the distribution of basic seasonings.

If you requested extra condiments, did you receive...

☒ ...enough ☐ ...not enough

Let's put it this way: Thanks to the wasteful amount of ketchup your employees evidently believe I need to enhance a medium order of fries, I've finally realized my dream of opening my own restaurant supply business with the surplus.

Was the napkin dispenser on your table stocked with a supply of paper napkins?

☒ Yes ☐ No

"Stocked"? Try "Crammed so tightly with three times the capacity of napkins it was designed to hold that I was physically unable to pull out one as well as afraid that in my attempt to do so, the dispenser would go off like a roadside bomb and take out four booths."

Are you aware that our menu's nutritional information is printed on the back of our tray liners?

☒ Yes ☐ No

I figured it out once the grease from the fries rendered the paper translucent.

Was the restaurant you visited one of our 24-hour locations?

☒ Yes ☐ No

Judging by the prevalence of parasite-infested homeless people pontificating about the government, including one who insisted on showing me a bad magic trick involving a broken cigarette and then harassed me until I bought him a vanilla shake, yes, it was likely a 24-hour location.

Finally, thinking back about your recent visit, was there any particular employee who stood out?

☒ Yes ☐ No

You mean the kid yelling at his girlfriend on his cell phone? Yeah, when I was leaving, he stood out by the side entrance chain-smoking non-filtered Camels while lines were ten deep and one register was open. Unfortunately, now that I've mentioned it, you're going to have to update that "Employee of the Month" plaque whose last addition was in May, 2003.

On a scale from 1 to 5, with 1 being "poor" and 5 being "excellent" how would you rate the cleanliness of...

☒ 1 ☐ 2 ☐ 3 ☐ 4 ☐ 5

There was a camera crew from National Geographic videotaping some sort of new life form spotted swimming under that metal grate.

Our self-service soft drink station?

☒ 1 ☐ 2 ☐ 3 ☐ 4 ☐ 5

I had a close-up look when I slipped on one of those loose plastic balls kicked in from the play area and fell on my ass and landed on a discarded mayonnaise-covered lettuce leaf and a puddle of orange soda.

The carpet and/or floor area?

☒ 1 ☐ 2 ☐ 3 ☐ 4 ☐ 5

I couldn't get close enough to rate them; the raccoons were particularly aggressive.

The trash receptacles outside the restaurant?

☒ 1 ☐ 2 ☐ 3 ☐ 4 ☐ 5

I couldn't get close enough to rate them; the raccoons were particularly aggressive.

If you're a horny guy (that may be a redundancy) is there anything better than the concept of polygamy? Coming home to a different hot, frisky wife every night of the week! Hoo boy, could it get any better? Well, yeah, coming home to a different, hot, frisky wife every night of the month, or year! Mmmm. That's it! We're off to a Texas compound in search of pure carnal bliss! While we're gone here's something for you to read:

THE PROS & CONS OF BEING A POLYGAMY CULT KID

CON Chances are good that sooner or later you'll wind up double dating with your father

PRO Teachers are way less inclined to send you home with a note to your mother when they realize they have to write more than a dozen

CON With all the family weddings you attend, you're likely to suffer a major Chicken Dance-related injury

PRO If, at some point, you discover you have more than a passing interest in cross-dressing, it's soooo easy to blend in unnoticed

PRO When surrounded all day by nothing but frumpily-clad women with no makeup, an old Martha Stewart Living magazine may provide all the pubescent stimulus you can handle

CON Always having to help Mother Number Seven with her homework

PRO Being sent to the Principal's office is never any big whoop since you control a significant PTA voting block

CON When your moms try to out-porridge one another

CON Too many freakin' soccer moms

CON There's a strong possibility you could wind up learning about sex in the schoolyard from your sister/aunt Harriet

SNAPPY ANSWERS TO STUPID QUESTIONS

Is that an iPod?

No, it's a pace-maker for my brain.

No, it's a juicebox and I'm sucking it in through my ears.

No, it's a very sick garage door opener and I'm examining it with this special stethoscope.

Is this a parade?

No, it's just a group of total strangers who happen to be going in the same direction.

No, it's a game of follow the leader that keeps picking up players as it goes through town.

No, it's a very slow, very musical marathon — the Ugandan is winning.

Making a phone call?

No, I have a hearing problem and I use this little amplifier to talk to myself.

No, a bug flew in my ear and when it comes out, I'll snap this thing shut and crush it!

No, this electronic seashell lets me hear the sound of the digital ocean.

Are you going up?

No, my hobby is counting steps. I'm past five million now.

Yes, I'm just waiting for these crazy steps to stand still.

That depends — which way are YOU going?

Has the Doctor seen you?

I can't remember. I was only a child when I came in.

I don't think so — but maybe he took a peek while I was passed out from the pain.

Many times, just not in the last 8 hours I've been sitting here!

shouldn't have put in your mouth —silly!

The day we found out
you were allergic to eggs

Loudmouth critics of the War on Terror like pointing out that the cortex-snappingly expensive crusade has accomplished absolutely nothing — and may have even done more harm than good. But what these pointy-headed nimrods conveniently omit from their dribble-chinned complaints are the many widely-unnoticed POSITIVE things that have come out of our battle against the evil-doers. Don't believe it? Then check out these...

Unacknowledged Benefits of the WAR on TERROR
