BIRTHDAY OF RECKONING

I have been a MAD reader since 2015, and ever since my mom bought me my first issue, I loved it. After a while, my grandma got me a gift subscription. So for my birthday, I decided to have a MAD magazine party! I know, I know, why would I be wasting my awesome 12th birthday on a magazine? Because I LOVE MAD. So thank you for making my life funny and brainwashing me to be excited every two months! Keep up the stupidity!!!!!

Nikolai Morlett • Truckee, CA

Morlett it Go — Gee, your party sounds like it was amazing! But who do you think might've appreciated an invite to your fabulous MAD magazine-themed affair, Nikolai? Hmm…let's see…maybe THE PEOPLE WHO MAKE MAD MAGAZINE? To be fair, you've probably heard all about Senior Editor Dave Croatto's harrowing (and hive-inducing) ice cream cake addiction — so we can understand why you'd want to exclude him. But what about the rest of us, Nikolai?!? After all we've given you, all we ask is that you invite us to your next magazine-themed birthday party — even if the theme of your 13th is Better Homes and Gardens! —Ed.

Nikolai in the middle holding the phone

DEATH COMEDY JAM

Two years ago, my brother bought the farm. As a matter of closing his estate, I had his mail forwarded to me. I was delighted — no, really more nauseated — to discover that your magazine subscription was part of my inheritance. Short story long, I will abide his influence no matter the cost to my sensibilities or pocketbook and continue to search for the truth obscura.

Dave Dakert • Lombard, IL

The Butcher, The Dakert, The Candlestick Maker — We're so sorry to hear about your loss — and we're even sorrier that this is how you learned that you should've been a better brother! While other family members no doubt received his vintage Rolls-Royce, palatial Tuscany estate and Mickey Mantle rookie card, YOU got stuck with his crummy MAD subscription. That makes a sad situation that much more upsetting. At least the guy had a sense of humor — which is more than we can say for the publication you'll be receiving until the sweet release of death frees YOU from this horrific obligation! —Ed.

DADDY'S ISSUES

As we pulled into the car wash today, the attendant noticed my son's issue of MAD and told us how he grew up reading the magazine and lamented how his mother must have thrown out his collection at some point. I couldn't help but think to myself, "Is this where reading MAD magazine leads, a dead-end job wearing rubber boots, scrubbing down cars?" Am I setting my son up for failure by buying him your trashy mag?

Sam Kardash • Ottawa, Canada

Keeping Up With the Kardash — There's no guarantee that reading MAD will lead to a dead-end job at a car wash. For example, we grew up reading MAD — and now we work HERE! Which is proof that things can turn out WAY worse than working at a car wash. By the way, did you happen to notice if they were hiring? We already have our own rubber boots! —Ed.

BOARD TO DEATH

I write to you from Wilmot, New Hampshire where I am living every 43-year-old's dream. I manage a skatepark and live rent-free at my mother's house. While it sounds like I have it all, there are a few pieces of low-hanging fruit left to pick. Aside from getting a call in to the Howard Stern show, I live to grace the pages of your legendary publication. My friend David Lorden drew up an Alfred sketch on my board. Perfect likeness aside, the kids at the skatepark did not know who they were looking at. I blame it on the local literacy, as your magazine is still going strong.

Ian Kirk • Wilmont, NH

Kirk du Soleil — We weren't sure whether or not to print your letter — after all, is it really fair for you to have SO MUCH? You've already got the skatepark gig, the free rent and seemingly-magical friendship with David Lorden — should we really make the rich even richer? But after some serious soul-searching, we decided that printing your letter would be just the thing to take you down a peg! Also, we have a theory about the kids at the skatepark — we're guessing they know exactly who Alfred is, but just want to quickly end the conversation with the creepy 43-year-old skateboarder trying to "chillax" with them. —Ed.

A MATTER OF PRINCIPAL

I am an assistant principal at a middle school and longtime reader of MAD. I need a small victory in my life, so please publish this photo of my boss (Principal Kathy Hawkins) reading your rag on a Friday afternoon. After a long week of dealing with naughty little children, all I can figure is that by relaxing this way, she recovers much like a drunk; in search of the hair of the dog that bit her.

Scott Dowling • Vernal, UT

Dowling at the Moon — We'd like to be the first to congratulate you! Didn't you hear the good news? You're about to be promoted! Because when the Vernal school board sees how Kathy Hawkins spends her spare time — on school grounds, no less — she's going to go from "principal" to "unemployment-line malingerer" quicker than you can say "Justifiable Firing"! We can't wait to see what you'll be fired for! Write back next month and let us know! —Ed.

CHALK IS CHEAP

Eagle-eyed reader Ian Scott McGregor sent in this chalky recreation of the cover of MAD #540 by Hani Shihada, after seeing it on Instagram. This is some MAD art we can really get behind — the type that can be completely destroyed with a common garden hose!

MARCH MAD-MESS

While at the Equality March in Washington, DC on June 11, I spotted a group of protestors too lazy to make their own poster. My grandfather, William Gaines, would have been proud!

Nicholas Mifsud • Philadelphia, PA

Mifsud: Impossible — True, your grandfather loved laziness — but he hated the unlicensed use of MAD imagery, so it's a real toss-up! —Ed.

FLIGHT AND WRONG

By 2001 I had been a subscriber to your magazine for three years and had three Alfred keychains to show for it. Like a good number of airline captains, I hung an item on the "dash" while flying. I carried all three Alfreds in my flight bag and rotated them as needed. In haste to leave for vacation, I left one hanging in an airplane. He probably had more flight time than me when I recovered him weeks later. The most gorgeous day in my experience, found me transporting a full load of passengers from Nashville to St. Louis, while administering Initial Operating Experience to a new guy. Due to the stress of helping the new guy along, I did not have time to pull an Alfred out. The day soon took a horrible turn — I was flying one of the 4,000-plus airplanes grounded due to the evil and cowardly acts perpetrated on 9/11. Fifteen years later, I find myself employed outside of the airlines. I stumbled across the three Alfreds nestled, all but forgotten, in my flight bag. I am correcting this slight. One is keeping my hat brass company in a shadow box. The second will soon hang from the Coweta District Boy Scout spirit stick. The final Alfred is returning home to you.

Eric N. Stout • Newnan, GA

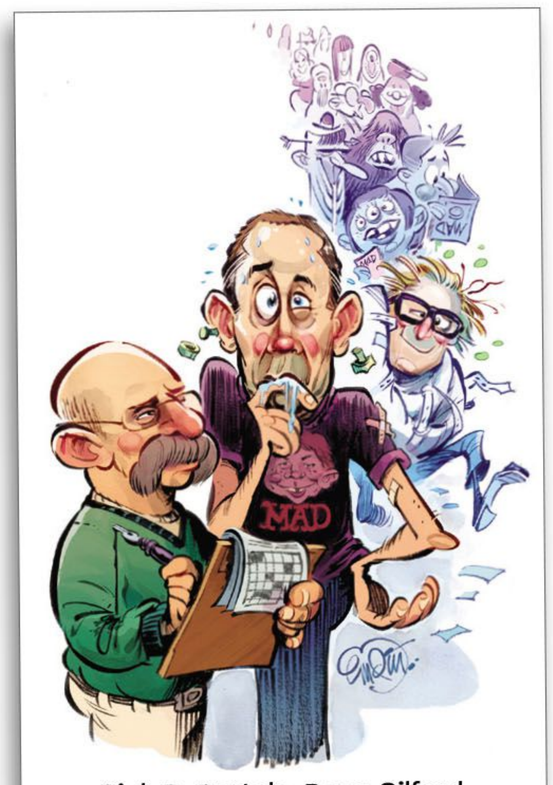

Stout's Honor — Thanks for sending the keychain back to us — you probably didn't notice, but you left the keys for a 747 on it. We're starting to piece together the reason why you're "employed outside of the airlines." Kind of like how Tim Tebow is "employed outside" of professional football. Anyway, thanks for writing, cap'n! —Ed.

AT FIRST SITE

It's common knowledge that MAD was instrumental in the creation of the Internet — because a place was needed to house Doug Gilford's MADCoverSite .com! Amazingly, this month marks the site's 20th anniversary! Over the years, Doug has created a massive database listing information on every issue, article and MAD contributor, plus galleries of front and back covers, MAD paperbacks, Super Specials, MAD Kids and countless other MAD stuff. Doug has truly proven the old computer adage, "garbage in, garbage out"! Congratulations, Doug! Your dedication, devotion and attention to detail show us that there must not be a whole lot to do in Oregon!

ALFRED LOOK-ALIKE

Hi, I've been a reader of MAD since my childhood. Years ago, I realized that an old school photo of mine bears an uncanny resemblance to a Mr. Neuman, complete with a missing tooth! I don't know if the physical letters are backed up, but I've submitted this photo to the lookalike contest three times now with no results. I can't describe how disappointed I am when a new issue of MAD hits the newsstands and I flip to the letters without seeing my face.

Jared Kowis • Spring, TX

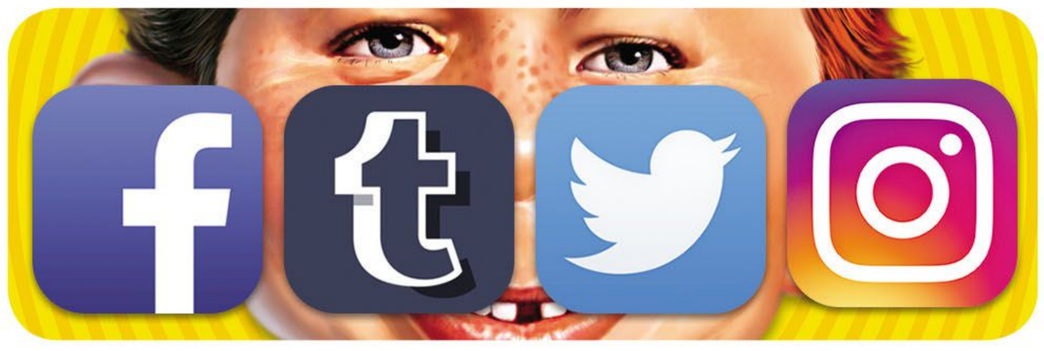

How Now, Brown Kowis? — We can't even imagine how disappointed you must have been, never seeing your face in MAD! And we also can't imagine how disappointed our readers will be when they DO see your face in MAD! No matter what, someone's suffering! We hope this ends your ongoing feelings of disappointment, but we're guessing that growing up looking like Alfred, you're no stranger to the feeling. Anyhoo, thanks for writing! —Ed.

Tips for Enjoying Yourself at America's National Parks

Remember that the giant redwoods are legally protected. Trying to smuggle one out will land you in a world of trouble.

Parks are busiest during the holidays, particularly "Talk Like A Pirate Day" and "National Celery Day." Plan accordingly.

You can easily identify most park animals by their scat. That doesn't meant you should, of course. In fact, you'll enjoy yourself more if you forget we even mentioned it.

The best way to avoid crowds is to stay home and view your park of choice via webcam.

Try to get tickets for when Stephen Strasburg is pitching... wait, that's how to enjoy yourself at Nationals Park.

WHEN A MOMENT SPONTANEOUSLY TURNS ACRIMONIOUS, WHY PAUSE TO TAKE A PILL?

With Acrimonium® for daily use, you don't have to plan around having an argument with your spouse.

It's the only daily tablet approved to treat Argumentile Dysfunction (AD), so you can be ready for verbal altercations any time the moment is right.

Ask your psychiatrist about Acrimonium® for daily use, or at least until one of you can't take it any longer and files for divorce.

Acrimonium®

Tell your psychiatrist about all your passive aggressiveness and neuroses, and ask if your skin is thick enough for prolonged screaming matches. Do not carry firearms when taking Acrimonium®, but DO drink alcohol to excess. Side effects may include headache, upset stomach, facial redness, flared nostrils, severe chest pains and thoughts of strangulation. Seek marriage counseling right away for an argument lasting more than 16 hours.

JAMES AND THE GIANT IMPEACH DEPT.

A series of memos written earlier this year by former FBI Director James Comey described serious and questionable statements and actions made by President Trump during their meetings. What they didn't include, however, were these even more explosive revelations, which MAD is leaking here for the first time as...

STATEMENTS FROM THE

As I entered, he was wrapping up a photo op with some Boy Scouts, with whom he had just shared all of the nuclear launch codes.

He then asked if I could somehow make it that all female bureau agents wear selections from the Ivanka fashion line exclusively…

His deal was simple: drop the case against Mike Flynn and the job hosting Celebrity Apprentice was mine.

…also in this meeting were Jared Kushner, a dwarf in a kilt and Baba Booey from the Howard Stern program.

Then, appearing to be speaking to no one in particular, the President wistfully wondered if it was possible to fabricate DNA evidence to show that Eric wasn't really his son…

I thought it was an odd question: "What kind of money are we talking about to take out Jake Tapper?"

When I mentioned it seemed that the smell of boiling cabbage had permeated the Oval Office, Mr. Trump's one-word response was "Bannon."

Making reference to my 6'8" height, President Trump insisted it was he who originated the phrase "a tall drink of water." He then also took credit for inventing the phrases "Prime the pump," "Thank God it's Friday," and "YOLO."

~~REDACTED~~ COMEY MEMOS

ARTIST:
TOM RICHMOND

His thinly-veiled threat was chilling: "I could stand in the middle of the Oval Office and shoot the Director of the FBI in the head and I wouldn't lose voters."

He seemed surprised when I confessed to not knowing the overnight ratings for Dancing with the Stars.

...at which point he took out a solid gold yo-yo and floundered through a pathetic "walk the dog." He then proclaimed himself "the greatest yo-yo guy ever" and urged me to "just ask anyone."

He spoke at length about "outdated" and "lame" laws preventing Americans from marrying their daughters.

20 minutes into my briefing he asked me, "Which one are you again?"

Despite the President's assurances that dessert consisted of "the most beautiful piece of chocolate cake that you've ever seen," I found it to be "meh."

At one point, the President said, "Even my farts smell great" — and then he farted to prove it. I didn't have the courage to tell him how wrong he was.

The loyalty oath Mr. Trump demanded I take sounded as if it was directly plagiarized from the opening theme to the Friends TV show.

Suddenly he blurted out, "Who knew sharing highly classified intel with the Russians would be so complicated?"

THE PLANE TRUTH DEPT.

AN AIRLINE CARRIERS' CU

(THAT TELLS IT LIKE IT IS)

STOMER SERVICE PLEDGE

By signing this official-looking, totally meaningless document, we, the CEOs of the four major American air carriers, hereby pledge the following:

- Overbooking is a thing of the past! We will sell only as many tickets as there are seats on the plane, plus a handful more to the hard-of-hearing, who we're betting won't hear the "last boarding call" announcement and miss the flight.

- Effective immediately, no one will be "bumped" from a flight. A few passengers, however, may be issued an exciting "alternate boarding pass" which guarantees they will earn many, many more frequent flyer miles than they might have otherwise, had they flown nonstop as previously planned.

- An absolute maximum of five passengers per airline, per flight, may be removed from a plane once they've been seated. To ensure safety and comfort, passengers will be dragged off by the arms only, and by specially-trained baggage handlers. Note: To ensure passenger privacy while being dragged, the captain will turn on the "No Smart Phone Recording" light.

- When passengers are asked to give up seats, greatly increased compensation will eventually be offered. Please note: If passengers refuse our initial lowball offer, the crew or even the pilots may accept our higher offer and leave the plane, resulting in a canceled flight.

- Effective immediately, if the overhead bins are full by the time you board, we will, at no charge, "gate-check" your bag — meaning that we will leave it at the gate for you to conveniently pick up on your return trip. This is our way of demonstrating to you the great value of our $50-per-bag check fee.

- To show appreciation to our loyal customers, we're delaying the implementation of our $35 seatbelt fee indefinitely — though our $25 seatbelt buckle fee slated for next month will proceed as planned.

We understand that as travelers, you have a choice! After all, we, the four major U.S. airlines, control just 98.2% of all domestic flights. So if you're unhappy with the way we treat you, you do have almost a two percent chance of finding another airline to get you to your destination. Good luck with that!

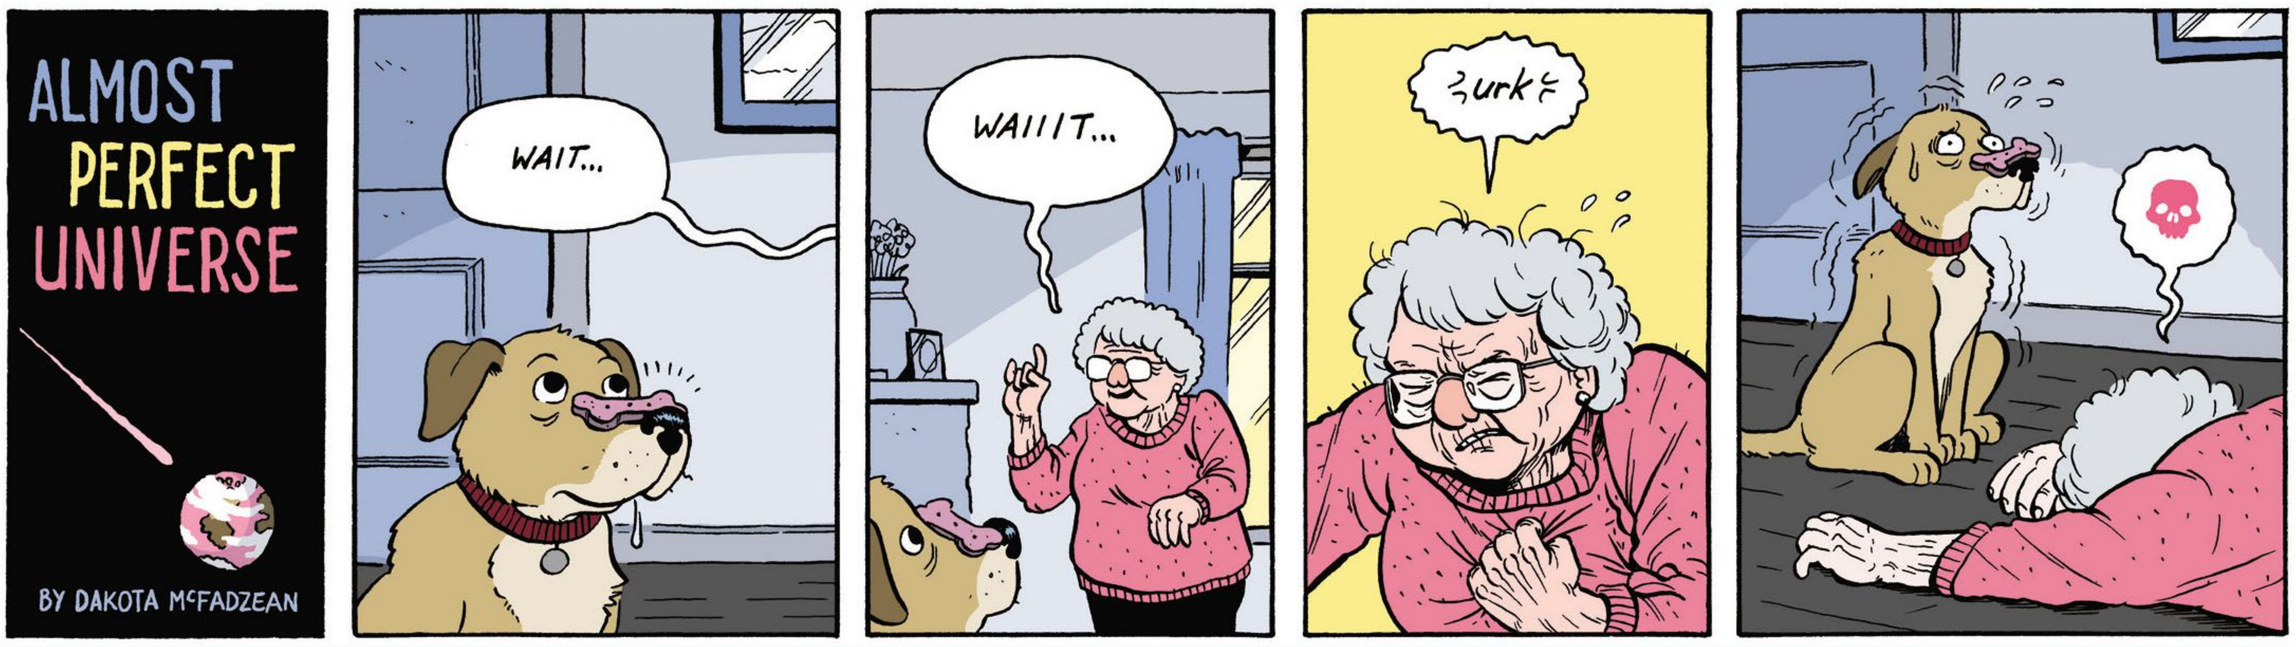

Remember, we're working together toward a single, monopolistic, consumer-friendly airline. We're just battling over the official name of it!

Sincerely,
"Your friends at American, United, Delta and Southwest"

HOW TO RED
COLLEGE

ALL DEBTS ARE OFF DEPT.

There's an old saying: "If you think education is expensive, try ignorance." Well, we DO think college is expensive, so we WILL be trying ignorance, thank you very much! (In fact, that's our approach to every topic...) So it's with that directive in mind (and not much else) that we present this highly ignorant take on the costs of higher education!

Abstain from alcohol. It will save you money now AND help your kidney fetch a higher price should you need to sell it on the black market later.

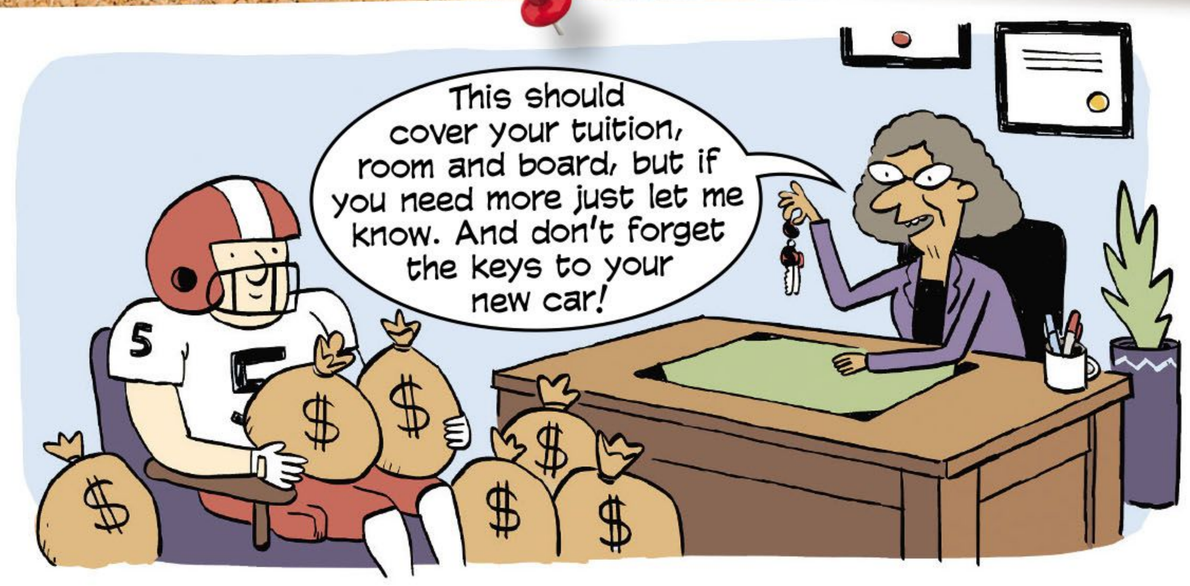

Avoid unnecessary spending by talking to your roommate in advance about which one of you will be in charge of buying Pulp Fiction posters, and which one of you will be in charge of buying Bob Marley posters.

Attend a student protest. You'll be helping to make the world a better place, but more importantly, sometimes there's free pizza.

Textbook prices have increased a whopping 82% in the past decade. Remove them from your budget completely and just ask Siri everything instead.

Here's a little lifehack the admissions board doesn't want you to know about: you can score extra scholarship money simply by becoming a world-class athlete with a 4.0 GPA.

WRITER: KENNY KEIL ARTIST: JOHN MARTZ

UCE YOUR COSTS

Save money and water by doing all your laundry in that big fountain in the middle of the quad.

Shop for used school supplies on Craigslist. Better yet, just shop for used diplomas and cut out the middleman entirely.

Many campus dining halls have salad bars with the condiments and croutons lying out completely unsupervised. Boom, there's your meal plan!

Try not to change your major more than twice a semester.

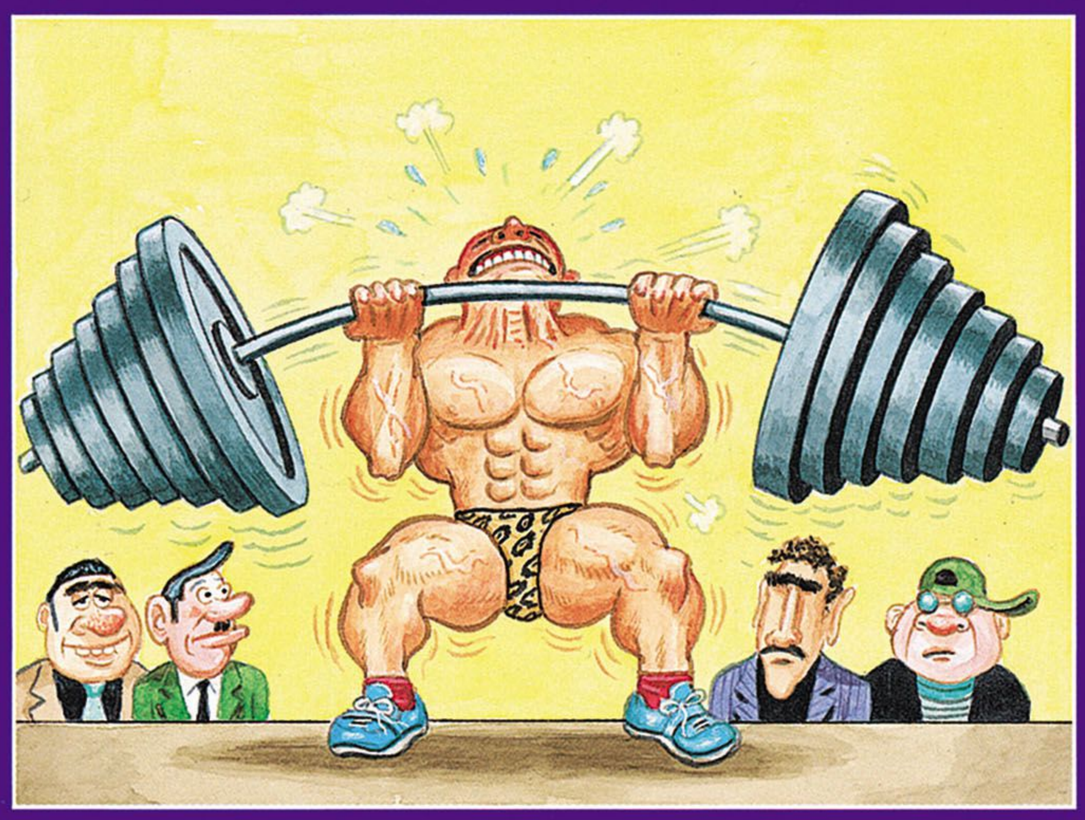

In danger of losing your scholarship? First, join a ragtag fraternity of slackers and outcasts against whom the dean holds a bitter grudge, then find an obscure loophole in the campus bylaws and, finally, win a high-stakes intramural competition. Hey, it always works in the movies!

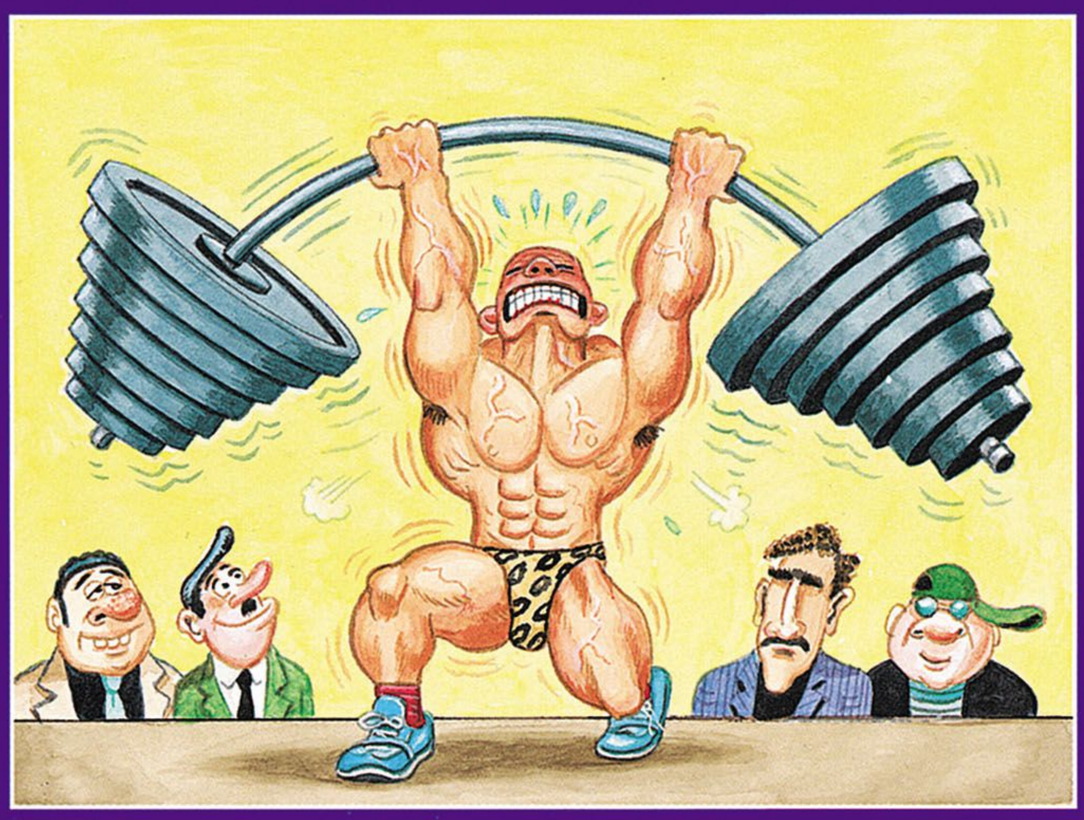

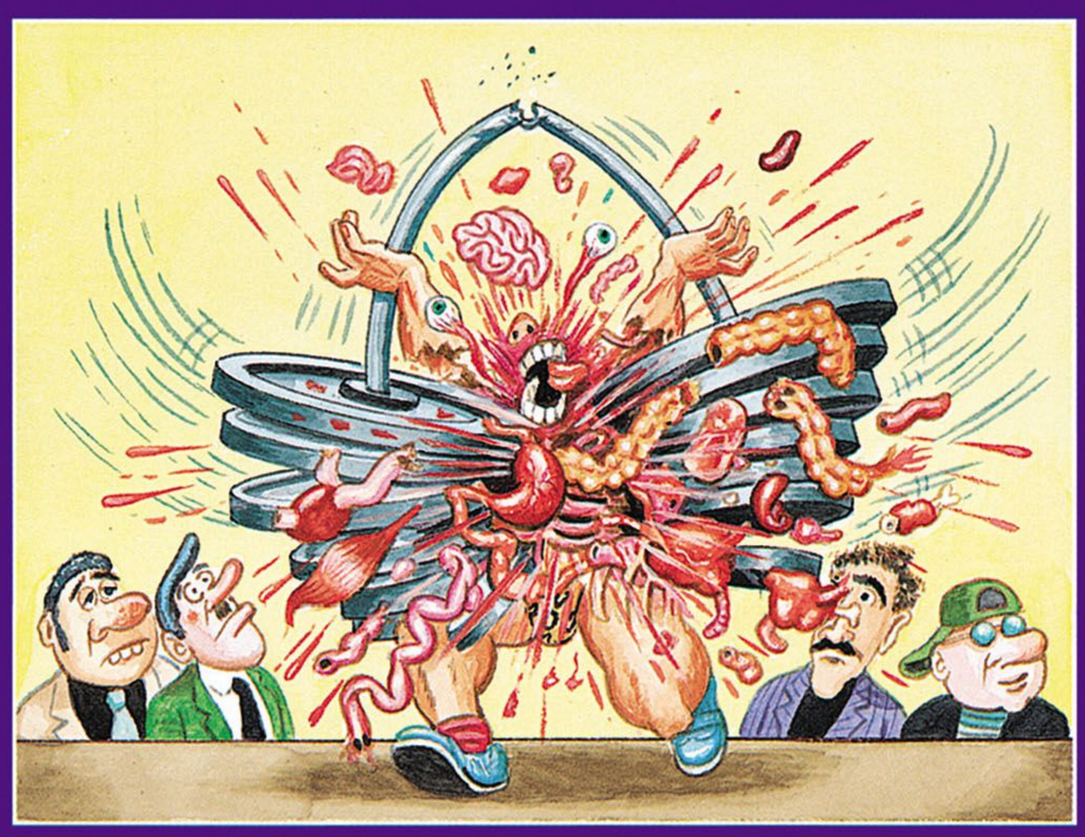

Don't get suckered into pricey graduation packages on your big day. A shower cap and a hospital gown are as good a "cap and gown" as any.

The villainous mastermind Dr. Heinous — trapped in his awkward teenage past! I.P. Studios presents...

DEWEY DERWIN DESTROYS THE WORLD!

"APP-ETITE FOR DESTRUCTION"

My name is Dr. Heinous. I am the greatest supervillain of all time. Or at least I was, until a time-travel mishap sent me hurtling backwards down the waterslide of spacetime, belly flopping into the bacteria-filled swimming pool of adolescence. Yes, fate had served me a big fat slice of humble pie – and without so much as 30 minutes to digest it, I was about to be thrown into the deep end.

EXCUSE US, MA'AM.

WE'RE LOOKING FOR DEWEY DERWIN.

Let's rewind a bit, shall we?

My plans for building a time machine that would return me to the future were proceeding splendidly. (How else would you have expected them to proceed, fool?) My calculations were impeccable. My engineering, superb. My analysis, exquisite. My blueprints so masterfully drawn that they made the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel look like it was painted by George W. Bush.

Alas, I had hit a bit of a snag in the funding department.

Projects of this magnitude don't run on brilliant ingenuity alone — they require money! Money that I, at my current allowance rate, wouldn't possess for another 19 to 20,000 years!

SHAKE SHAKE SHAKE SHAKE SHAKE

(Depending on inflation.)

COUGH IT UP, YOU IMPUDENT SWINE!

Being a criminal mastermind, my first instinct was to supplement my income with a little grand larceny. But I no longer had a driver's license, and finding a suitable getaway driver proved infeasible.

MOTHER! I REQUIRE TRANSPORTATION TO THE BANK AT ONCE!

GO TO BED, DEWEY.

BAH! YOU NEVER RESPECTED MY DREAMS!

One might assume owning a teleporting hamster would solve my mobility woes. However, training one of those things is almost as difficult as finding black market buyers for stolen alfalfa pellets.

I SAID FORT KNOX, NOT PETCO! YOU WORTHLESS KOOSH BALL...

VLOO OORROR RR R RRRPPP

SKWEEP

And so, in a rare moment of desperation, I, Dr. Heinous, did the unthinkable.

I went job hunting.

WRITER: KENNY KEIL ARTIST: JUSTIN PETERSON

Being vastly overqualified for literally everything, I expected some degree of humiliation. But nothing could have prepared me for the egregious ageism I would soon be subjected to.

I'M TELLING YOU FOR THE LAST TIME, YOU DROOLING IGNORAMUS! THIS ISN'T A PRANK CALL! NOW WILL YOU BE ABLE TO MEET MY SALARY DEMANDS OR NOT?

AND I'M TELLING YOU FOR THE LAST TIME, KID: THE NASA JET PROPULSION LAB DOESN'T HIRE CHILDREN!

"CHILDREN"? HOW DARE Y— HELLO?

NO ONE HANGS UP ON DR. HEINOUS!

HAS ANYONE SEEN MY PHONE?

Every Ivy League institution in the world should have been kicking down my door for a piece of this brain! But where do I end up? Tutoring basic science to the dregs of society — including my idiotic chemistry teacher, Mr. Balsawood.

SOOOOO, WHAT YOU'RE SAYING IS, THE INCREDIBLE HULK ISN'T SCIENTIFICALLY ACCURATE? LIKE, NOT EVEN A LITTLE?

SIMPLE EDITION SCIENCE FOR IDIOTS

TOSS

THAT'S IT. I'M OUT.

I lasted a whole 20 minutes.

From there it was a brisk downward spiral into the dark world of socially acceptable child labor. I washed dishes. I bussed tables. I handed out free samples of pretzel poppers at the mall...until the food court was destroyed in a "mysterious" fire. Who knew cinnamon was so combustible?

(I did.)

PRETZEL POPPER, ANYONE?

BARN POPPER

PRETZEL BARN

The only job I even remotely enjoyed was at the local cineplex. There's something deeply gratifying about charging hapless buffoons 15 bucks for a soggy paper sack of room-temperature popcorn kernels. Unfortunately, the manager didn't appreciate my unique zeal for customer service, and banned me for life.

ENJOY THE SHOW, SIR!

ESPECIALLY THE PART WHERE IT'S REVEALED THAT THE DETECTIVE AND THE SERIAL KILLER ARE THE SAME PERSON.

HEY! NO SPOILERS, MAN!

SULLIVAN THEATERS

SO YOU DON'T WANT TO KNOW WHAT'S REALLY IN YOUR NACHO TOPPINGS?

Within a week I had exhausted all my employment options — each more humiliating than the last, resulting in little more than burned bridges and scorched pretzel carts. It wasn't fair! Why should adults be the only ones who get to lie and cheat their way to the top?

SIGH.

WILL I NEVER ESCAPE FROM THIS WRETCHED NIGHTMARE?

And then, like a United Airlines attendant on an overbooked flight...it hit me.

THAT'S IT! DR. HEINOUS, YOU BRILLIANT DEVIL!

DING!

THAT'S IT!

What was I doing wasting my time trying to get a real job? It's 2017 — fake jobs are where all the money is! Why, one could contrive an entire career out of little more than an overinflated ego and a broken moral compass! Life coach, social media influencer, President of the United States! Or, most lucrative of all...tech start-up founder.

CLICK

MY WORD. THIS FEELS DOWNRIGHT UNETHICAL...

I'M GETTING GOOSEBUMPS.

It was then that I went from Dr. Heinous, supervillain...to Dr. Heinous — APP DESIGNER.

Within hours, I had created an app that would disrupt the online learning industry by creating a fully-integrated, mutli-tiered, cloud-based strategy for gaming the academic sector.

...which is a fancy way of saying it lets kids cheat their way through school for 20 bucks a month. Within a week, every student at my high school was a paid subscriber.

I'd created the Uber of plagiarism. The Grubhub of truancy. The Facebook of unethical data mining. So, in other words...Facebook.

Cheatify was selling like fidget spinner-shaped hotcakes. Kids everywhere were scamming their parents. And I, in turn, was scamming them. It was beautiful.

All those pathetic rubes getting hosed. All that glorious credit card information coursing through my modem! My time machine would be funded in no time...

I might even have a little left over to stash in a Swiss bank account as a "welcome home" gift to myself once I arrive back in the future. As long as I avoided any frivolous expenses...

Like Icarus, I had flown too close to the sun. Unlike Icarus, my crime wasn't hubris...but rather, genius!

WHATCHA GONNA DO WITH ALL THAT JUNK, ALL THAT JUNK INSIDE YOUR TRUNK...

Well...genius, along with several dozen felonies, misdemeanors and tax code violations.

KEEP YOURSELF MOSQUITO-SAFE

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE HEALTH TIPS:

- A number of diseases and viruses spread through infected mosquitoes. If you are a mosquito, GET TESTED!
- To reduce your chances of being bitten, avoid being outdoors — or indoors, if there is a way to go outdoors from the indoor location, such as a door.
- Mosquitoes are attracted to bodies of water. If you have an outdoor swimming pool, be sure to fully drain it after each use.
- Never drink from any of those transparent laboratory petri dishes filled with mosquitoes seen in every news story about mosquitoes.
- Mosquito repellents come in many forms: sprays, candles, bath oils, lotion sticks, ultrasonic zappers and portable traps. Be sure to pick the worthless and ineffective method that best suits your needs.
- When all else fails, you can always roll up this poster and swat the buzzy little turds.

* DID YOU KNOW? *

- Worldwide, mosquitoes kill more people than sharks and plane crashes — and almost as many as the Taco Bell Gordita Supreme.
- Last year, an estimated 725,000 to 1,000,000 people died from mosquitoes. (The precise number is not known because the guy who was counting died. A mosquito cut the brakes on his car.)

REMEMBER:

Mosquito-borne diseases can take up to 14 days to develop. So there is no need to panic, unless you have no symptoms whatsoever.
